Are in Full Control of Vadenia and Now Threaten Galatz.

CLASH IN OPINION

As to Which Are Winners, the British or the Turks, in Mesopatamia.

Associated Press, Jan. 15.—The Russian offensive in the Riga section has abated and Rumania continues the only theater where there is a vigorous operation in progress, although there are indications of the possibility of another battle on the Macedonia front.

Fighting continues also in Mesopotamia with both the Turks and British claiming advantages.

Teutonic forces are in full control of Vadenia, six miles southwest of Galatz, according to Berlin, and the city is under the fire of Bulgarian artillery. Vadenia is the last town of the Sereth river held by the Russo-Rumanian armies.

There have been encounters between British and Austro-German forces south of Lake Ochrida, Macedonia, and the Germans claim to have driven the French across the Czerna river on this front, while Paris records an advance in the region of Lake Malik.

With Bayonet Attack.

Petrograd, Jan. 15.—A Rumanian bayonet attack on the Kasina river has driven the Teutons back, and southwest of Galatz the Russo-Rumanian forces retired slightly before the Teutonic advance, according to an official announcement.

Berlin Issues Denial.

Berlin, Jan. 15.—It is officially announced that Russian attacks near Fudeni, on the lower Sereth river and along the Kasin river, in Rumania, have been repulsed.

CARS POUR IN OVER HIGHWAY FROM NORTH

More Than Hundred a Day Are Counted in Jacksonville During December.

ON THEIR WAY SOUTH

What Good Roads and Publicity Are Doing for the State of Florida.

Jacksonville, Jan. 15.—During the month of December more than 100 foreign cars from other states, filled with tourists, entered Jacksonville over the Dixie Highway, every day, according to John E. Gilbert, of this city, chairman of the Duval County Dixie Highway Commission. Reports have been received by the thousands at the local office, and are still pouring in, that this number will be exceeded next year, when, it is hoped, the Dixie Highway will be completed, is felt certain. The fondest expectations of all of the good road builders will be realized by the results when the news can go out to all inquirers that the Dixie Highway can be traveled from end to end without interruption.

This average of 100 cars a day has been accomplished despite the candid statements which have gone out over the country through the leading trade journals, newspapers and by personal letter from the Dixie Highway Commission. The inquirers have been told that the Dixie Highway, which is the nearest completed thoroughfare to Florida, has not been finished for all-year round travel, but despite this, they are coming into the state in numbers never before known.

The number of cars entering Jacksonville does not include all those that have entered the state, as many of them have gone to the west coast cities via Tallahassee, Monticello, Live Oak and Lake City. Only about half of the cars that have entered Florida have come through Jacksonville. The tourists are pouring into Jacksonville and going on to east coast resorts for the winter. Many stop over for a week before continuing their trip.

The various communities along the Dixie Highway are appreciating the returns in store for them by improving the road and they are hard at work doing their part. A majority of the counties on the eastern and western divisions have been successful in persuading their state highway departments to give them federal and state aid. The most notable gaps which are being closed up and which will without question, be open for travel by fall of 1917 are along the eastern division of the highway between Cincinnati and Knoxville on the western division between Nashville and Chattanooga, Tenn., on the central division between Waycross and Jacksonville, on the western division between Tallahassee and Gainesville, on the connecting link between Tallahassee and Jacksonville and on the eastern division between Jacksonville and Miami.

The Dixie Highway Association is keeping actively behind the work on these divisions and is receiving the loyal co-operation of the citizens of the several counties and states.

BOND ISSUES A CERTAINTY

To Take Care of Border Expenditures and Other Extraordinary Items.

Washington, Jan. 15.—House democrats will meet, tomorrow, to formulate a policy relative to the revenue situation, for the first time, and will meet daily until a measure is completed with a view to its passage in the house by January 30, at the latest.

Chairman Kitchin of the house ways and means committee, after a conference, today, with Secretary McAdoo, announced that the committee, the secretary of the treasury and the administration were in perfect harmony on the measure.

There is certain to be authorization for a bond issue to take care of the Mexican border expenditures, estimated at one hundred and sixty two million dollars, for an armor plant, and $21,838,000 for the Alaska railway.

NEW MILITIA ORGANIZATION

Was Completed Last Night and Papers Forwarded to the Authorities.

The roster of the Miami Naval Militia was sent to Governor Catts, at Tallahassee, yesterday, and after being approved by the adjutant general, it will be forwarded to Washington and a permanent organization will be formed within a few weeks.

A well attended meeting of the local unit was held in the rooms of the Germania Club, last night, when the young men listened to several speakers, among whom were former members of naval militia organizations.

President W. W. Thompson and those who have had previous experience, told of the duties to be performed and this seemed to have a good impression upon the members who were assured that these were not too severe and that every man had a chance of promotion.

Those having signed to muster sheet follow:

W. W. Thompson, L. C. Mount, Walter M. Frank, Fred A. Duvall, J. Willis Junkin, H. C. Schmid, P. C. Carlin, Thomas R. Cleare, Louis Sergent, Earl S. Hoag, William J. Foy, Florent Goethals, John I. The members of the local militia offered a vote of thanks to the Germania Club for the use of its club rooms.

ANOTHER HOUSEBOAT COMING

In all probability the large power houseboat Kama of Baltimore, will be in Miami within a few days, it now being in the vicinity of West Palm Beach with a distingushed party on board. The Kama s owned by William Keyser, Jr., of Baltimore, and is chartered to F. C. Havenmeyer, of New York, who is on the boat with a party of friends. They are making their way around the Florida coast to test the fishing, and are traveling outside in the ocean rather than down the canals.

M'ADOO

Named by Lawson as One Who Knew of Leak in Information on Peace Note.

FINANCIER TESTIFIES

Before Committee and Gave Source of His Information as Chairman Henry.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Thomas W. Larson told the house rules committee, today, that Representative Henry, chairman of the committee, told him that the cabinet officer, senator and banker engaged in the pool were Secretary McAdoo, H. Pliney Fiske, a New York banker, and that he knew the senator only by the initial "O."

He charged Paul M. Warburg, of the Federal Reserve Board, with having knowledge of the leak of President Wilson's note, and repeated the rumor that Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, had made two million dollars in the stock market.

Complete denials were made by Chairman Henry, Secretary McAdoo, Secretary Tumulty and Gibboney.

Secretaries McAdoo and Tumulty will appear tomorrow without subpoenas when the inquiry is resumed.

Lawson pleaded with the committee today before the hearing was begun to give his testimony in secret, but the committeemen insisted on a public statement.

Chairman Henry with a set of fourteen questions prepared by the committee questioned Lawson.

When Lawson settled himself and, looking directly at Henry, declared Henry had given him the names of those involved in the leak, the room buzzed with excitement.

He then asserted that Mrs. Visconti, of Washington, told him that William H. Price, the white house man of the Washington Star, was on the inside with Secretary Tumulty.

Lawson declared that Henry pleaded with him in a conference the two had, to cease urging an investigation. He quoted Henry as saying it would be a serious thing for the country at this time.

When he finished Henry made a sweeping denial and declared he never mentioned any names that Lawson said he named, and he denied under questioning from other members of the committee that he named cabinet officers or officials to anyone.

Lawson replied to this by shouting "every word I uttered here today is the truth, so help me God, without variation."

He said immediately after the conference with Henry he placed the matter before James Omar Cosgrov of the Sunday New York World, Erman Ridgeway of Everybody's magazine, and Donald McDonald, a Boston publisher. He said "call these men. They will bear me out."

German inventors have brought out an automobile which travels on three sets of movable runners instead of wheels.

AFTER 51 YEARS LODGE CLOSED

Same Master Who Opened Session During Civil War Closed It Last Night.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 15.—In examining the records of Hiram Masonic Lodge No. 40 of this city, it was recently found that the regular meeting of the lodge that was begun on the night of April 17, 1865—the night news was received here that Lincoln was shot— had never been officially concluded, and tonight this formality was carried out with historic ceremonies.

John Nichols, 83 years old, former representative in congress, who as master opened the memorable session of the lodge more than half a century ago, acted as master again tonight.

Masons were present from many southern states, since tonight's ceremony was preliminary to the opening here tomorrow of the 113th annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina.

On the night of April 17, 1865, the city of Raleigh was occupied by Kilpatrick's division of Sherman's army. When the union soldiers on the outskirts of the city learned of the assassination of Lincoln, retaliatory measures were suggested and the officers had difficulty in holding the men in check.

While the civil population of Raleigh was unaware of the assassination and of the excitement among the troops, Hiram Lodge opened its regular meeting as usual, but in the midst of it Captain W. C. Whitten, of the 9th Maine regiment, detailed as provost officer, informed Master Nichols of the assassination and requested that the meeting be dismissed in order that no gathering should add to the confusion when the news became generally known.

The members dispersed immediately without the formality of closing the lodge.

THE ENTENTE REPLY TO WILSON NOTE BARS ANY FURTHER GERMAN STEPS

Berlin, Jan. 15.—Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, the German foreign minister, informed the Associated Press, today, that he believed the entente reply to President Wilson's note bars the possibility for the present, for any more German steps to bring about peace.

He said that it precluded any direct announcement of German peace conditions.

DIPLOMATS HAND IN RESIGNATIONS

Washington, Jan. 15.—American ambassadors and ministers abroad are inquiring of the state department whether they are expected to resign at the beginning of the president's second administration, and have been informed that it would be considered proper for them to send their resignation to take effect March 4th.

RAILROADS CANNOT RECOVER ON CLAIMS, FOR CARRYING THE MAILS APPROXIMATELY $35,000,000

Washington, Jan. 15.—Test cases regarded as decisive of about eight hundred railroad claims against the government for approximately thirty five million dollars for additional compensation for carrying the mails from 1907 to 1911, were decided against the railroads by the supreme court, today.

In the so-called railway mail pay divisor cases, the Chicago and Alton and Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroads instituted proceedings in the court of claims on which 800 other railroads relied to determine claims of between $27,000,000 and $35,000,000 for additional compensation for mail transportation between 1907 and 1911. The Chicago and Alton claimed $116,500 and the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley $26,800. Both suits were dismissed by the court of claims.

Since the litigation arose, following years of dispute between congress and the postoffice department with the railroads over the basis of railway mail pay, congress reorganized the system by recently substituting the car "space" system for the weight computation plan.

The claims for extra mail pay from 1907 to 1911 were based on the ground that the postmaster general exceeded his authority in 1907 in charging the "devisor," by which the average daily weight of mail carried was ascertained, so as to include Sundays, which previously had been excluded from the computations because little mail was formerly carried on Sundays. When the "six-working days" devisor was adopted in 1873, mail transportation was confined almost entirely to weekdays and the railroads contended that congress, in 1907, refused to change the "devisor" to include Sundays as "working" days in averaging the weight of mail to be the basis for payment of mail carriage.

Having accepted contracts, although under protest, and having carried the mails under the new seven-day devisor plan, the government contended that the railroads were not entitled to recover additional compensation in the courts.

The railroads were not then required, as prescribed in compulsory legislation last year, to carry mail offered by the government.

During the four-year period in question, the government contended, the railroads could have refused to transport the mails if dissatisfied with the seven-day devisor computation. Although they might have so refused, the railroads replied that refusal would have disrupted business and social conditions in the country and that the reduction in mail pay resulting from the seven-day devisor was, in effect, forced upon them by the government.

MANN

CHIEF JUSTICE DISSENTS

Washington, Jan. 15—Interpreting the Mann white slave act, the supreme court today decided that the prosecutions for transporting women in interstate commerce is not limited to commercialized vice and included immoral escapades.

The convictions of F. Drew Caminetti and Maury I. Diggs of Sacramento, and L. T. Hays, of Oklahoma, were affirmed.

Although the supreme court had previously upheld constitutionality of the Mann white slave law, the question of whether it prohibits interstate transportataion of women only for commercialized vice or applies to mere personal immoral escapades having no element of commercialism or coercion has been disputed ever since the law's enactment.

Interpretation by the supreme court of the disputed point was asked in the celebrated Diggs-Caminetti cases and in the case of L. T. Hays, of Alva, Oklahoma. In all three cases, the government conceded, there was no element of traffic for gain.

Caminetti was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment, and fined $1,500; Diggs to two years and a $2,000 fine. Hays had an 18 months' prison sentence. All have been at liberty under bail.

Lower federal courts, and different administrations of the department of justice have differed over the law's interpretation. Various clubs and other organizations have agitated for an interpretation to curb all immorality, whether commercial or not.

The other important questions raised were, whether women accomplices and, whether men might be convicted solely upon a woman's uncorroborated testimony.

While Diggs and Caminetti voluntarily gave some testimony they refused some further testimony and the trial judge instructed the jury to consider such refusal in reaching their verdict. Diggs and Caminetti contended they violated the constitutional clause exempting persons from testifying against themselves. The Ninth federal circuit court, however, held that, under various precedents, the trial's courts charge was justified, the defendants testifying voluntarily but only in part.

The defendants contended that congress never intended to include, with classification as felonies, offenses which are misdemeanors in most states but aimed the law against persons transporting women victims in commercialized white slave traffic.

Although Attorney General Wickersham, in office when the law was passed, ruled that it did not apply to personal escapades, the succeeding administration held otherwise. The Second, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth federal circuit courts of appeal have sustained the broader interpretation, while other federal courts have held only for the commercial construction.

Diggs and Caminetti were tried and convicted separately, the former on August 20, 1913, and the latter on September 5, 1913. Their cases were consolidated and affirmed March 18, 1915, by the Ninth circuit court. In the supreme court all three cases were advanced, both sides desiring early settlement of the disputed questions, and argued together in November, 1916, Assistant Attorney General Wallace representing the government and former Senator Bailey of Texas, Marshall B. Woodworth of San Francisco and Harry O. Glasser of Enid, Oklahoma, the defendants.

Justice McReynolds took no part in considering the three cases, being disqualified in having been attorney general during prosecution of the three defendants.

Upon the supreme court's decision future prosecutions under the Mann act are dependant, including several persons under indictment and awaiting trial, including Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, convicted at Chicago in 1913. Johnson now is a fugitive from justice in Europe.

THE HERO OF MANILA

Stricken While on His Way to Navy Yard---Wife and Son With Him.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Physicians stated tonight that the life of George Dewey, admiral of the navy and the hero of Manilla bay, is gradually ebbing away, but declared the veteran may live thirty-six hours. A general break down accompanied by arterio sclerosis had shattered his strength.

Admiral Dewey was in his eightieth year. He collapsed last Thursday while leaving home for the navy yard.

Mrs. Dewey and their son, George, Jr., are at the death bed.

AMERICAN-MEXICAN JOINT COMMISSION ADJOURNS FOR GOOD

New York, Jan. 15.—The American-Mexican joint commission, which has failed to effect an adjustment of the differences between the two countries, after four months of conferences, formally disolved, today.

The American members told the Mexicans that they had recommended to the president the dispatch of Ambassador Fletcher and the withdrawal of General Pershing's expedition.

The Americans impressed on the Mexicans with the dissolution of the commission that the Mexican problem reverted to President Wilson. They were careful not to leave in the minds of the Mexicans the conviction that the president would accept a recommendation that General Pershing be withdrawn, but the intimation that he would do so was conveyed.

BULL MOOSE AND ELEPHANT FIGHT

New York, Jan. 15.—George W. Perkins, chairman of the national progressive committee, issued a statement declaring "several actions taken today" by the republican executive committee over the protest of Chairman Willcox, had failed to heal the breach between the republicans and progressives.

He added that there is no doubt but that the split between republicans and progressives is as wide as ever.

PEDESTRIANS ARE IN DANGER OF PROSECUTION

The police propose to enforce the traffic regulations to the letter.

How the Annual Fair Has Played a Most Important Part

IN TWENTY-ONE YEARS

Will Open This Year February 26---A Bit of Early History.

Somehow — somehow — somebody, since Miami has been on the map, has dropped a date, and thereby hangs a tale.

It has been generally understood, and repeatedly announced ,that the Dade County Fair this year would be the twentieth annual fair.

As a matter of fact, it will be the twenty-first.

E. V. Blackman, whose ideas are responsible for the inauguration of the annual events, discovered the error and disclosed it yesterday to a representative of The Herald.

Consequently the Dade County Fair is of lawful age this year, just twenty-one; and the record is now straight.

Never, since the inauguration of the fair ,has it failed to make its annual appearance, although some of the struggles in the early days were almost discouraging. Mr. Blackman has continued the active head of the fair all these years, and is just as greatly interested in the 1917 event as he was in the one twenty-one years ago.

Begins February 26.

As usual, the Dade County Fair this year will be held for a full week beginning February 26, the main exhibit to be in the Fair building on the bay front, with booths and live stock stalls along the boulevard as last year. Although cramped for room to make the whole display what the projectors would like to have it be, it is expected that the fair this year will surpass all in previous seasons, especially in the showings of fruit conservation and live stock. These two features in the development of Dade county are considered of the utmost importance, and their growth has been nothing less than phenomenal.

Coupled with the fair will be the annual Baby Show, which now, as heretofore, is the result of a proposition made by Mrs. Henry M. Flagler, now Mrs. Ralph Bingham. She has donated for the premiums awarded in this show, and is doing so this year.

The Woman's department will also be represented. This, as a part of Dade county's fair, was first suggested by Mrs. Kirk Munroe.

Everybody's Fair.

The Dade county fair is unique in the fact that it has no assets. No funds back it, yet it always succeeds. It is dependent from year to year upon the liberality of citizens, the people of Miami, and they have not failed it yet. As a matter of fact, there are citizens of Dade county who have accumulated fortunes here, and been benefited greatly by the fair, who have not contributed a dollar toward it, but others have come to the front when needed, and the fair has been an advertisement for Dade county which has helped all who live here and attracted many new settlers, especially in recent years.

How It Originated.

The first Dade county fair, twenty-one years ago, which started the ball to rolling, was a creature of circumstance, faith, nerve and unlimited pluck.

The International Tobacco Growers' association was scheduled to meet in little Miami at that time. There were to be delegates from all over this country and from abroad. J. Laud Brown and Lady Brown, early promoters of Miami, are remembered as among the delegates.

It occurred to E. V. Blackman that, in honor of the convention, it would be a good thing to get together some sort of display of things grown here. The thought was father to the action which followed immediately. With only two weeks in which to carry out the project Mr. Blackman went at it and did it.

He called on C. O. Richardson, at Musa Isle, and after explaining his idea and asking for a contribution of vegetables was assured by that gentleman that he could have everything on the farm for that purpose.

It was a fine start, and Mr. Blackman was filled with courage.

Then, to be sure of a place in which to hold the fair, he called on Manager Merrill of the Royal Palm hotel and asked for the use of a ground floor room.

"Certainly," replied the genial manager, "you can have two rooms." It developed that the rooms were not needed, but the spirit of the offer was none the less appreciated.

Next Mr. Blackman wrote to J. E. Ingraham, of the land department of the F. E. C. railroad, to enlist his assistance in the enterprise.

Mr. Ingraham, not waiting to be further convinced, telegraphed Mr. Blackman to proceed and get up the fair, and said that he would pay all the expenses and furnish a tent in which to make the displays.

Then Mr. Blackman smiled. He realized that he had assembled back

Before Committee and Gave Source of His Information as Chairman Henry.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Thomas W. Larson told the house rules committee, today, that Representative Henry, chairman of the committee, told him that the cabinet officer, senator and banker engaged in the pool were Secretary McAdoo, H. Pliney Fiske, a New York banker, and that he knew the senator only by the initial "O."

He charged Paul M. Warburg, of the Federal Reserve Board, with having knowledge of the leak of President Wilson's note, and repeated the rumor that Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, had made two million dollars in the stock market.

Complete denials were made by Chairman Henry, Secretary McAdoo, Secretary Tumulty and Gibboney.

Secretaries McAdoo and Tumulty will appear tomorrow without subpoenas when the inquiry is resumed.

Lawson pleaded with the committee today before the hearing was begun to give his testimony in secret, but the committeemen insisted on a public statement.

Chairman Henry with a set of fourteen questions prepared by the committee questioned Lawson.

When Lawson settled himself and, looking directly at Henry, declared Henry had given him the names of those involved in the leak, the room buzzed with excitement.

He then asserted that Mrs. Visconti, of Washington, told him that William H. Price, the white house man of the Washington Star, was on the inside with Secretary Tumulty.

Lawson declared that Henry pleaded with him in a conference the two had, to cease urging an investigation. He quoted Henry as saying it would be a serious thing for the country at this time.

When he finished Henry made a sweeping denial and declared he never mentioned any names that Lawson said he named, and he denied under questioning from other members of the committee that he named cabinet officers or officials to anyone.

Lawson replied to this by shouting "every word I uttered here today is the truth, so help me God, without variation."

He said immediately after the conference with Henry he placed the matter before James Omar Cosgrov of the Sunday New York World, Erman Ridgeway of Everybody's magazine, and Donald McDonald, a Boston publisher. He said "call these men. They will bear me out."

Same Master Who Opened Session During Civil War Closed It Last Night.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 15.—In examining the records of Hiram Masonic Lodge No. 40 of this city, it was recently found that the regular meeting of the lodge that was begun on the night of April 17, 1865—the night news was received here that Lincoln was shot— had never been officially concluded, and tonight this formality was carried out with historic ceremonies.

John Nichols, 83 years old, former representative in congress, who as master opened the memeorable session of the lodge more than half a century ago, acted as master again tonight.

Masons were present from many southern states, since tonight's ceremony was preliminary to the opening here tomorrow of the 113th annual meeting of the Grand Lodge of North Carolina.

On the night of April 17, 1865, the city of Raleigh was occupied by Kilpatrick's division of Sherman's army. When the union soldiers on the outskirts of the city learned of the assassination of Lincoln, retaliatory measures were suggested and the officers had difficulty in holding the men in check.

While the civil population of Raleigh was unaware of the assassination and of the excitement among the troops, Hiram Lodge opened its regular meeting as usual, but in the midst of it Captain W. C. Whitten, of the 9th Maine regiment, detailed as provost officer, informed Master Nichols of the assassination and requested that the meeting be dismissed in order that no gathering should add to the confusion when the news became generally known.

The members dispersed immediately without the formality of closing the lodge.

THE ENTENTE REPLY TO WILSON NOTE BARS ANY FURTHER GERMAN STEPS

Berlin, Jan. 15.—Dr. Alfred Zimmermann, the German foreign minister, informed the Associated Press, today, that he believed the entente reply to President Wilson's note bars the possibility for the present, for any more German steps to bring about peace.

He said that it precluded any direct announcement of German peace conditions.

DIPLOMATS HAND IN RESIGNATIONS

Washington, Jan. 15.—American ambassadors and ministers abroad are inquiring of the state department whether they are expected to resign at the beginning of the president's second administration, and have been informed that it would be considered proper for them to send their resignation to take effect March 4th.

RAILROADS CANNOT RECOVER ON CLAIMS, FOR CARRYING THE MAILS APPROXIMATELY $35,000,000

Washington, Jan. 15.—Test cases regarded as decisive of about eight hundred railroad claims against the government for approximately thirty five million dollars for additional compensation for carrying the mails from 1907 to 1911, were decided against the railroads by the supreme court, today.

In the so-called railway mail pay divisor cases, the Chicago and Alton and Yazoo and Mississippi Valley railroads instituted proceedings in the court of claims on which 800 other railroads relied to determine claims of between $27,000,000 and $35,000,000 for additional compensation for mail transportation between 1907 and 1911. The Chicago and Alton claimed $116,500 and the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley $26,800. Both suits were dismissed by the court of claims.

Since the litigation arose, following years of dispute between congress and the postoffice department with the railroads over the basis of railway mail pay, congress reorganized the system by recently substituting the car "space" system for the weight computation plan.

The claims for extra mail pay from 1907 to 1911 were based on the ground that the postmaster general exceeded his authority in 1907 in charging the "devisor," by which the average daily weight of mail carried was ascertained, so as to include Sundays, which previously had been excluded from the computations because little mail was formerly carried on Sundays. When the "six-working days" devisor was adopted in 1873, mail transportation was confined almost entirely to weekdays and the railroads contended that congress, in 1907, refused to change the "devisor" to include Sundays as "working" days in averaging the weight of mail to be the basis for payment of mail carriage.

Having accepted contracts, although under protest, and having carried the mails under the new seven-day devisor plan, the government contended that the railroads were not entitled to recover additional compensation in the courts.

The railroads were not then required, as prescribed in compulsory legislation last year, to carry mail offered by the government.

During the four-year period in question, the government contended, the railroads could have refused to transport the mails if dissatisfied with the seven-day devisor computation. Although they might have so refused, the railroads replied that refusal would have disrupted business and social conditions in the country and that the reduction in mail pay resulting from the seven-day devisor was, in effect, forced upon them by the government.

MANN

CHIEF JUSTICE DISSENTS

Washington, Jan. 15—Interpreting the Mann white slave act, the supreme court today decided that the prosecutions for transporting women in interstate commerce is not limited to commercialized vice and included immoral escapades.

The convictions of F. Drew Caminetti and Maury I. Diggs of Sacramento, and L. T. Hays, of Oklahoma, were affirmed.

Although the supreme court had previously upheld constitutionality of the Mann white slave law, the question of whether it prohibits interstate transportataion of women only for commercialized vice or applies to mere personal immoral escapades having no element of commercialism or coercion has been disputed ever since the law's enactment.

Interpretation by the supreme court of the disputed point was asked in the celebrated Diggs-Caminetti cases and in the case of L. T. Hays, of Alva, Oklahoma. In all three cases, the government conceded, there was no element of traffic for gain.

Caminetti was sentenced to 18 months' imprisonment, and fined $1,500; Diggs to two years and a $2,000 fine. Hays had an 18 months' prison sentence. All have been at liberty under bail.

Lower federal courts, and different administrations of the department of justice have differed over the law's interpretation. Various clubs and other organizations have agitated for an interpretation to curb all immorality, whether commercial or not.

The other important questions raised were, whether women accomplices and, whether men might be convicted solely upon a woman's uncorroborated testimony.

While Diggs and Caminetti voluntarily gave some testimony they refused some further testimony and the trial judge instructed the jury to consider such refusal in reaching their verdict. Diggs and Caminetti contended they violated the constitutional clause exempting persons from testifying against themselves. The Ninth federal circuit court, however, held that, under various precedents, the trial's courts charge was justified, the defendants testifying voluntarily but only in part.

The defendants contended that congress never intended to include, with classification as felonies, offenses which are misdemeanors in most states but aimed the law against persons transporting women victims in commercialized white slave traffic.

Although Attorney General Wickersham, in office when the law was passed, ruled that it did not apply to personal escapades, the succeeding administration held otherwise. The Second, Seventh, Eighth and Ninth federal circuit courts of appeal have sustained the broader interpretation, while other federal courts have held only for the commercial construction.

Diggs and Caminetti were tried and convicted separately, the former on August 20, 1913, and the latter on September 5, 1913. Their cases were consolidated and affirmed March 18, 1915, by the Ninth circuit court. In the supreme court all three cases were advanced, both sides desiring early settlement of the disputed questions, and argued together in November, 1916, Assistant Attorney General Wallace representing the government and former Senator Bailey of Texas, Marshall B. Woodworth of San Francisco and Harry O. Glasser of Enid, Oklahoma, the defendants.

Justice McReynolds took no part in considering the three cases, being disqualified in having been attorney general during prosecution of the three defendants.

AMERICAN-MEXICAN JOINT COMMISSION ADJOURNS FOR GOOD

New York, Jan. 15.—The American-Mexican joint commission, which has failed to effect an adjustment of the differences between the two countries, after four months of conferences, formally disolved, today.

The American members told the Mexicans that they had recommended to the president the dispatch of Ambassador Fletcher and the withdrawal of General Pershing's expedition.

The Americans impressed on the Mexicans with the dissolution of the commission that the Mexican problem reverted to President Wilson. They were careful not to leave in the minds of the Mexicans the conviction that the president would accept a recommendation that General Pershing be withdrawn, but the intimation that he would do so was conveyed.

BULL MOOSE AND ELEPHANT FIGHT

New York, Jan. 15.—George W. Perkins, chairman of the national progressive committee, issued a statement declaring "several actions taken today" by the republican executive committee over the protest of Chairman Willcox, had failed to heal the breach between the republicans and progressives.

He added that there is no doubt but that the split between republicans and progressives is as wide as ever.

How the Annual Fair Has Played a Most Important Part

IN TWENTY-ONE YEARS

Will Open This Year February 26---A Bit of Early History.

Somehow — somehow — somebody, since Miami has been on the map, has dropped a date, and thereby hangs a tale.

It has been generally understood, and repeatedly announced ,that the Dade County Fair this year would be the twentieth annual fair.

As a matter of fact, it will be the twenty-first.

E. V. Blackman, whose ideas are responsible for the inauguration of the annual events, discovered the error and disclosed it yesterday to a representative of The Herald.

Consequently the Dade County Fair is of lawful age this year, just twenty-one; and the record is now straight.

Never since the inauguration of the fair ,has it failed to make its annual appearance, although some of the struggles in the early days were almost discouraging. Mr. Blackman has continued the active head of the fair all these years, and is just as greatly interested in the 1917 event as he was in the one twenty-one years ago.

Begins February 26.

As usual, the Dade County Fair this year will be held for a full week beginning February 26, the main exhibit to be in the Fair building on the bay front, with booths and live stock stalls along the boulevard as last year. Although cramped for room to make the whole display what the projectors would like to have it be, it is expected that the fair this year will surpass all in previous seasons, especially in the showings of fruit conservation and live stock. These two features in the development of Dade county are considered of the utmost importance, and their growth has been nothing less than phenomenal.

Coupled with the fair will be the annual Baby Show, which now, as heretofore, is the result of a proposition made by Mrs. Henry M. Flagler, now Mrs. Ralph Bingham. She has donated for the premiums awarded in this show, and is doing so this year.

The Woman's department will also be represented. This, as a part of Dade county's fair, was first suggested by Mrs. Kirk Munroe.

Everybody's Fair.

The Dade county fair is unique in the fact that it has no assets. No funds back it, yet it always succeeds. It is dependent from year to year upon the liberality of citizens, the people of Miami, and they have not failed it yet. As a matter of fact, there are citizens of Dade county who have accumulated fortunes here, and been benefited greatly by the fair, who have not contributed a dollar toward it, but others have come to the front when needed, and the fair has been an advertisement for Dade county which has helped all who live here and attracted many new settlers, especially in recent years.

How It Originated.

The International Tobacco Growers' association was scheduled to meet in little Miami at that time. There were to be delegates from all over this country and from abroad. J. Laud Brown and Lady Brown, early promoters of Miami, are remembered as among the delegates.

It occurred to E. V. Blackman that, in honor of the convention, it would be a good thing to get together some sort of display of things grown here. The thought was father to the action which followed immediately. With only two weeks in which to carry out the project Mr. Blackman went at it and did it.

He called on C. O. Richardson, at Musa Isle, and after explaining his idea and asking for a contribution of vegetables was assured by that gentleman that he could have everything on the farm for that purpose.

It was a fine start, and Mr. Blackman was filled with courage.

Then, to be sure of a place in which to hold the fair, he called on Manager Merrill of the Royal Palm hotel and asked for the use of a ground floor room.

"Certainly," replied the genial manager, "you can have two rooms." It developed that the rooms were not needed, but the spirit of the offer was none the less appreciated.

Next Mr. Blackman wrote to J. E. Ingraham, of the land department of the F. E. C. railroad, to enlist his assistance in the enterprise.

Mr. Ingraham, not waiting to be further convinced, telegraphed Mr. Blackman to proceed and get up the fair, and said that he would pay all the expenses and furnish a tent in which to make the displays.

Then Mr. Blackman smiled. He realized that he had assembled back

The tent came. It was erected near the southeast corner of Royal Palm Park, and there the first Dade county fair was held.

Four tables, each sixteen feet in length, were made, donations of vegetables were brought in and spread on the tables—and they had to be spread mighty thin, too, to cover the tables. Simultaneously with the fair, the International Tobacco Growers' association held its meetings in the tent, and right before their eyes were, in constant display, the potatoes, beets, cabbages, beans and other vegetables grown in this county. The variety was not great in those early days, and there was no fruit, but from the first impressions created in this humble way has developed a section of fruit and vegetable growing which challenges the entire world.

The fair continued three or four days, and of the less than a thousand people in this section, it is safe to say that all of them saw the display at least once.

Friend in Need.

The late Henry M. Flagler, owner of the Florida East Coast railway, entered heartily into these early enterprises, and it was on his advice that a prize of $75 in gold was offered for the best and largest exhibit, and other liberal premiums. C. O. Richardson captured the first prize. When the gold was presented to him by Mr. Blackman he made a response which, for eloquence and faith and prophecy, is said to have been one of the greatest utterances ever delivered here. Unfortunately the speech was not preserved.

For the succeeding few years the land department of the Florida East Coast railway paid all the expenses of the annual fair.

Wreck of a Tent.

The second annual fair was held in the same tent as the first, pitched on the lot now occupied by the First Presbyterian church. It had been used for a negro camp meeting at New Smyrna during the interim. The second fair was doomed to disaster, for a storm happened along and tore the tent into shreds.

For a later annual fair a tent was secured from Jacksonville, and another year the fair was held in the Casino hotel. One of the fairs was also held in Budge's opera house.

Then the Fair Building.

Craving some more permanent arrangement, Mr. Blackman took up with Mr. Flagler the subject of erecting a building for the fair, and Mr. Flagler authorized Mr. Ingraham to build it. The initial building was a portion of the present building. It was supposed to be large enough to hold the exhibits for many years. But the second year Mr. Flagler attended the fair, recognized the inadequacy of the building, and authorized its extension to the present structure.

And today Dade county has outgrown the building twice erected by Mr. Flagler and more room for fair purposes is needed. The fair continues to grow as Miami and Dade county develop, and the exhibits keep pace with the growth of the citrus fruit, vegetables, live stock and other interests of this immediate section.

MOORE HAVEN HAS BIG CROP OF POTATOES

W. C. Hovey of Chicgao and His Associate, J. F. Southard, Begin Marketing Crop.

W. C. Hovey of Chicago and his associate, Jas. F. Southard, also of Chicago, who purchased 1,100 acres of land at Moore Haven some time ago, are commencing to market one of the finest crops of potatoes that has ever been raised in southern Florida.

These gentlemen have today nearly two hundred acres of potatoes ready for shipping, of the finest grade of Red Bliss variety, and already Moore Haven has become known as one of the finest potato raising districts in the south.

Mr. Hovey states that he expects to harvest over two hundred hampers to the acre, and has been offered $2.35 per hamper in the ground. This means $470 per acre, and gives a conservative idea of what this crop means as a quick return on a real investment, and is but one of many that are being made at Moore Haven.

It is men of this type who are causing the agricultural development in the Moore Haven country to become known so widely, and so prominently.

To clear the land, plant it immediately, and receive such remarkable returns is indeed satisfying, and is again proof of the fact that the Moore Haven country offers unheard-of possibilities for the farmer, as well as for the investor.

One does not ordinarily expect to make an investment in land costing $60, $75 or $85 per acre and to have that land produce, as has been above stated by Mr. Hovey, $470 per acre in one crop of potatoes, and then to be able to plant a crop of corn, which crop may be followed by still another crop in the first year, and yet such an investment is possible today at Moore Haven.

The experience of Mr. Hovey and Mr. Southard is but one of many others at Moore Haven, though not all on such a large scale, and it is no wonder that the people of Moore Haven are characteristically optimistic. They believe that what has been done and is being done can be done again, and the fact that the crop when made, is so easily marketed is also a chief reason for satisfaction to those who are farming at Moore Haven.

To be offered as was the case above mentioned, $2.35 per hamper in the ground for the first ten cars means that transportation is already available to handle such a large crop, and this fact is one that is not generally known. The big stern-wheel steamboat Osceola, which operates between Moore Haven and Okeechobee City, on the Florida East Coast railroad, has a carrying capacity of four cars per day, and can make daily trips. This boat is taking care of the shipping requirements of the growers at Moore Haven.

The Atlantic Coast railway is rapidly nearing Moore Haven and it is no wonder that this hustling new city, the center of the most wonderful agricultural enterprise in the entire south, is attracting such widespread interest.

GREAT BRUSH FIRE PROVED MENACE TO RIVERSIDE SECTION

Another serious brush fire occurred in the Riverside section yesterday, where several fine residences were threatened and the fire department was kept busy for several hours.

The fire occurred in that territory bounded by Twelfth and Ninth streets and avenues N and P, and almost the entire locality was swept by flames. The early arrival of the department prevented a serious loss, as several houses were in close proximity to the fire.

Insofar as Chief Chase could learn yesterday, the origin of the fire is a mystery.

SHOWING

The tent came. It was erected near the southeast corner of Royal Palm Park, and there the first Dade county fair was held.

Four tables, each sixteen feet in length, were made, donations of vegetables were brought in and spread on the tables—and they had to be spread mighty thin, too, to cover the tables. Simultaneously with the fair, the International Tobacco Growers' association held its meetings in the tent, and right before their eyes were, in constant display, the potatoes, beets, cabbages, beans and other vegetables grown in this county. The variety was not great in those early days, and there was no fruit, but from the first impressions created in this humble way has developed a section of fruit and vegetable growing which challenges the entire world.

The fair continued three or four days, and of the less than a thousand people in this section, it is safe to say that all of them saw the display at least once.

Friend in Need.

The late Henry M. Flagler, owner of the Florida East Coast railway, entered heartily into these early enterprises, and it was on his advice that a prize of $75 in gold was offered for the best and largest exhibit, and other liberal premiums. C. O. Richardson captured the first prize. When the gold was presented to him by Mr. Blackman he made a response which, for eloquence and faith and prophecy, is said to have been one of the greatest utterances ever delivered here. Unfortunately the speech was not preserved.

For the succeeding few years the land department of the Florida East Coast railway paid all the expenses of the annual fair.

Wreck of a Tent.

The second annual fair was held in the same tent as the first, pitched on the lot now occupied by the First Presbyterian church. It had been used for a negro camp meeting at New Smyrna during the interim. The second fair was doomed to disaster, for a storm happened along and tore the tent into shreds.

For a later annual fair a tent was secured from Jacksonville, and another year the fair was held in the Casino hotel. One of the fairs was also held in Budge's opera house.

Then the Fair Building.

Craving some more permanent arrangement, Mr. Blackman took up with Mr. Flagler the subject of erecting a building for the fair, and Mr. Flagler authorized Mr. Ingraham to build it. The initial building was a portion of the present building. It was supposed to be large enough to hold the exhibits for many years. But the second year Mr. Flagler attended the fair, recognized the inadequacy of the building, and authorized its extension to the present structure.

And today Dade county has outgrown the building twice erected by Mr. Flagler and more room for fair purposes is needed. The fair continues to grow as Miami and Dade county develop, and the exhibits keep pace with the growth of the citrus fruit, vegetables, live stock and other interests of this immediate section.

M'KINNEY TRIAL ON MURDER CHARGE PROBABLY TODAY

The case of Murphy vs. Griffing Brothers occupied the attention of Judge Branning and a jury in the circuit court all day yesterday, and, as a consequence, the murder case of Clarence C. McKinney, the negro charged with the murder of Rev. James Bolton, at Cocoanut Grove, last month, was not reached.

The special panel of jurymen reported for duty at the court house yesterday, but they were excused until this morning when it is expected that the McKinney trial will begin.

Suffrage League Considers Question of the Ballot In The Presidential Election

Definite action in regard to the question of passing a bill through the legislature allowing the women of Florida to vote in presidential elections was the matter of most importance at the meeting of the Suffrage League yesterday afternoon.

Miss Sue Pope moved that the league ask Dr. Hughlet of Cocoa to father the bill in the legislature this spring. This was carried, and further plans for its success were discussed. ### OFFICERS ELECTED BY SUFFS OF PALM BEACH

The Palm Beach Equal Suffrage League at its annual election on Saturday re-elected the former president, Mrs. John V. Cowling. Mrs. Frederick Guest, of London and Palm Beach, was elected vice-president. Mrs. Herbert S. Carpenter, a prominent suffrage worker of New York, was named second vice-president.

Other officers elected were:

Mrs. Cooper C. Lightbown, third vice-president.

Miss M. Teresa McKenna, recording secretary.

Mrs. J. B. O'Hara, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. W. M. Farrow, treasurer.

Miss Ruby Edna Pierce, chairman legislative committee.

Mrs. C. N. Dutton, chairman finance committee.

Mrs. C. H. Price, chairman publicity committee.

A special message from the secretary of the West Palm Beach Board of Trade invited the league to take part in the Seminole Sun Dance in March, says the Palm Beach Post. Some little discussion on the subject followed, but decision of the nature of the league's display was held in abeyance until the latter part of the month, when the committee on arrangements will consult with Mrs. Herbert S. Carpenter, of New York, who is expected in Palm Beach Saturday. Mrs. Carpenter has organized and led several large parades in eastern states and her suggestions and aid will be sought by the local suffragists.

Attorney Seward C. Kearley gave an interesting talk on the property laws of Florida, Tennessee and Idaho, explaining the difference between the common law, in force in this state and in Tennessee, and the community property plan, adopted from the California code and based on the old Spanish law, by which the state of Idaho is governed.

In the two southern states named, the law does not consider woman has a separate legal identity, and she can do nothing without her husban's consent, Mr. Kearley said. Any contracts which she may make are not considered valid.

He placed himself everlastingly on record in favor of suffrage and said he hoped that the time would soon come when all the women in the United States, and the women of Florida in particular, would be granted the ballot. The last time he visited his old home in Idaho he saw his mother and two sisters go to the polls with his father and cast their ballots. "It really did my heart good. This talk about it making women masculine to vote is all poppycock," he said.

The suffragists then and there enlisted his sympathies and wriggled a promise from him that he will take part in their Sun Dance parade—providing he isn't the only man!

MRS. BRYAN MAY TALK ON SUFFRAGE QUESTION IN WEST PALM BEACH

Palm Beach Post: One of the important questions to be brought up at the Woman's Club meeting at Mrs. Herbert S. Fairchild's home is that of bringing Mrs. William Jennings Bryan to West Palm Beach to deliver an address on suffrage.

Mrs. Bryan, who is at the Bryan villa in Cocoanut Grove for the winter, has generously offered to defray her own expenses and to speak at any time and at any place that may be selected. The offer was made to the Equal Suffrage League, but inasmuch as many of the club women are interested in suffrage, and whether or no, would be delighted with an opportunity to hear Mrs. Bryan, it is thought the Woman's Club may want to join with the suffrage league, and bring the speaker to West Palm Beach under the auspices of the two organizations.

Mrs. Bryan has traveled extensively throughout the United States in the interest of suffrage. Her efforts to enfranchise the women of Nebraska have been untiring, and she is equally as anxious to see Florida women "freed." At a suffrage luncheon given in Miami in her honor recently, Mrs. Bryan made the statement that she will have her citizenship in whichever state—Nebraska or Florida—first gives her the ballot.

And Florida certainly wants Mrs. Bryan.

Suffrage appears to be rapidly gaining ground in Florida, as witnessed by the uprising of leagues over the entire state, the remarkable growth of suffrage organizations that are less than a year old, and the granting of municipal votes in the more progressive towns.

MRS. OMER COMING TO MAKE AN ADDRESS

WANT PICTURES OF TAMIAMI TRAIL

It is quite likely the Pathe motion picture company will send representatives here within the next few days to take pictures of the Tamiami Trail, according to information had last night from J. B. McCrary, head of the J. B. McCrary Engineering Corporation, contractors of the work.

Mr. McCrary recently received a communication from the Pathe people at Chattanooga, proposing to come to Miami for this purpose and asking when the work would be sufficiently far advanced to justify an effort by them to secure pictures.

The reply they received to their inquiry was to the effect that they might come at any time that suited their convenience, and the indications now point to their early arrival.

How about that watch? Is it giving satisfaction? If not, give us a trial. Work guaranteed. F. A. Walker & Co., 1112 Avenue C

DESCRIPTION OF TAGORE THE POET OF INDIA

Since the announcement of Sir Rabindranath Tagore's departure for India the disappointment with many in Miami is intense, as he was to have come south and visited Miami. In the absence of the great Indian poet and philosopher himself, a very intimate description of him, written by a Chicago friend to Mrs. Philip Clarkson here, is of much interest and not untimely.

Sir Rabindranath Tagore is described as a very beautiful person, and of course he makes one feel that he walked out of a Bible picture. He wore such beautiful clothes, shoes and wide trousers and over all an apparently seamless garment like a kimona with wide sleeves. It was of soft camel's hair wool of a gentle tea color with a fine gilt cord at the edge. His gray hair and beard are lovely. His soft, brown skin emphasized the whites of his eyes. His hands are woman-small, but nervous and virile like the hand of Robert Browning. His voice is high and a little nasal like a snare drum. He chanted a little as he read his poems, stopping at the end of the lines. I got accustomed to it and I liked it, but it was an acquired taste. He sat as he read by a table, and his left hand resting on the table gestured nervously as though it were talking to itself. When he read his child poems his face gentled and lighted so that he looked like Jesus. One could almost see the halo."

MRS. HAVENS TODAY ON SYMBOLOGY OF CROSS AND THE TREE

In addition to the paper on immigration which will be presented at the regular meeting of the Woman's Club this afternoon, Mrs. Kate Havens will present her talk on the symbology of the Cross and the Tree, a subject which she makes most fascinating. The music for the afternoon will be under the direction of Mrs. C. H. Reeder .

Mrs. A. L. Bass will entertain the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Christian church at her home, 1017 avenue H, on Thursday afternoon at two o'clock.

MRS. BRYAN MAY TALK ON SUFFRAGE QUESTION IN WEST PALM BEACH

Palm Beach Post: One of the important questions to be brought up at the Woman's Club meeting at Mrs. Herbert S. Fairchild's home is that of bringing Mrs. William Jennings Bryan to West Palm Beach to deliver an address on suffrage.

Mrs. Bryan, who is at the Bryan villa in Cocoanut Grove for the winter, has generously offered to defray her own expenses and to speak at any time and at any place that may be selected. The offer was made to the Equal Suffrage League, but inasmuch as many of the club women are interested in suffrage, and whether or no, would be delighted with an opportunity to hear Mrs. Bryan, it is thought the Woman's Club may want to join with the suffrage league, and bring the speaker to West Palm Beach under the auspices of the two organizations.

Mrs. Bryan has traveled extensively throughout the United States in the interest of suffrage. Her efforts to enfranchise the women of Nebraska have been untiring, and she is equally as anxious to see Florida women "freed." At a suffrage luncheon given in Miami in her honor recently, Mrs. Bryan made the statement that she will have her citizenship in whichever state—Nebraska or Florida—first gives her the ballot.

And Florida certainly wants Mrs. Bryan.

Suffrage appears to be rapidly gaining ground in Florida, as witnessed by the uprising of leagues over the entire state, the remarkable growth of suffrage organizations that are less than a year old, and the granting of municipal votes in the more progressive towns.

WANT PICTURES OF TAMIAMI TRAIL

It is quite likely the Pathe motion picture company will send representatives here within the next few days to take pictures of the Tamiami Trail, according to information had last night from J. B. McCrary, head of the J. B. McCrary Engineering Corporation, contractors of the work.

Mr. McCrary recently received a communication from the Pathe people at Chattanooga, proposing to come to Miami for this purpose and asking when the work would be sufficiently far advanced to justify an effort by them to secure pictures.

The reply they received to their inquiry was to the effect that they might come at any time that suited their convenience, and the indications now point to their early arrival.

How about that watch? Is it giving satisfaction? If not, give us a trial. Work guaranteed. F. A. Walker & Co., 1112 Avenue C

DESCRIPTION OF TAGORE THE POET OF INDIA

Since the announcement of Sir Rabindranath Tagore's departure for India the disappointment with many in Miami is intense, as he was to have come south and visited Miami. In the absence of the great Indian poet and philosopher himself, a very intimate description of him, written by a Chicago friend to Mrs. Philip Clarkson here, is of much interest and not untimely.

Sir Rabindranath Tagore is described as a very beautiful person, and of course he makes one feel that he walked out of a Bible picture. He wore such beautiful clothes, shoes and wide trousers and over all an apparently seamless garment like a kimona with wide sleeves. It was of soft camel's hair wool of a gentle tea color with a fine gilt cord at the edge. His gray hair and beard are lovely. His soft, brown skin emphasized the whites of his eyes. His hands are woman-small, but nervous and virile like the hand of Robert Browning. His voice is high and a little nasal like a snare drum. He chanted a little as he read his poems, stopping at the end of the lines. I got accustomed to it and I liked it, but it was an acquired taste. He sat as he read by a table, and his left hand resting on the table gestured nervously as though it were talking to itself. When he read his child poems his face gentled and lighted so that he looked like Jesus. One could almost see the halo."

PROMISE AND PERFORMANCE.

It is becoming apparent that neither the law, the custom nor a promise is to have much weight in the present state administration.

It would be entirely unfair to criticise the governor for what he may be expected to do or to leave undone, but enough has transpired since the inauguration to indicate that the law is not to be tracked and that promises made both before and after the election are not to be kept.

Governor Catts stated immediately after the election that he proposed nothing drastic, that he had no enemies to punish, that all should receive a fair deal and that efficiency was to be the peculiar mark of his administration.

In response to repeated representations from the war department, the people of this state, two years ago adopted an amendment to the constitution making the term of office of all national guard commissioned officers to read "for a term continuous, during the pleasure of the governor," to conform to the practice in the federal army, where the president has the appointing power.

The meaning of that amendment is that an officer shall hold his office until removed by the governor, for cause, and not at his willful pleasure.

An efficient and experienced adjutant general has already been removed, although the administration has been in office barely two weeks, and a man appointed in his place, totally without experience, and whose appointment is specifically forbidden by the law of the state.

That is one infraction of the law and probably the most glaring incident, but there is another in connection with this administration to which attention should be called.

At the inauguration of the governor, the most ostentatious affair of the kind that probably ever took place at Tallahassee, there appeared certain gentlemen who posed as the governor's staff, arrayed in the uniform of officers of the United States army, although the federal law and the law of the state of Florida both forbid any but members of the regular army, the national guard and a few others, among whom members of a governor's staff do not number, from wearing such uniform, and each and every one of them is liable to prosecution under the state law and under the federal law for this infraction of the regulations.

Violation of law in any respect is not a little thing. When it is done by the leading official of the state and by those who immediately surround him, it leads to further violations on the part of others, and in a disrespect to all law.

In substituting for an able and efficient officer one without experience, the governor is not making for efficiency, that efficiency which he so loudly proclaimed in his celebrated address to the people of Florida, immediately after the election. In removing General Foster he is punishing one who did not support him for the nomination. He has violated two of the pledges voluntarily given to the people, without saying anything of the violation of law in appointing a man to the position who is not eligible under the law.

Mention of these things is made now so that the people may keep clearly in mind the many pledges of the governor, both before and after his election, and be able to compare them with his performance, as time goes on.

China will never take a place among the nations until she gets rid of some of her antiquated notions. A man in the government service resigned because his father was appointed to a position in the cabinet. That isn't the way we do it in these United States of America.

The entente allies need not be so proud about it, we can lose a cruiser ourselves, once in a while.

Another civic association has been added to the list in Miami. Now if that new one will not attempt to run all the affairs of the city, the state and the nation, it will probably be able to do a vast amount of good for its immediate community.

---

Having killed off about all his immediate enemies, Villa now announces that he is about to quit being a bandit.

Speaking of general disarmament, Florida is the first to order its navy into port for the purpose of dismantling it of all offensive weapons.

Rather clever that, getting the German note on the wires at the psychological moment when the entente note was coming to the president.

Now will Tom Lawson get into the magazines in a great installment story on "What I Know About Leaks?"

What we gather from that investigation is that one who owns an able-bodied leak may turn it into cash at about any time.

LIMITING SPREAD OF INFORMATION.

One feature of the proposed "zone" system of postal rates for publication should receive the careful consideration of the people at large. We say "proposed" because, while the provision for establishing the zone system for determining what part of the postal revenues newspapers and periodicals should pay, has been stricken out of the postal approoriation bill, there is a direct threat that attempts will be made to reinsert it when it comes before the house of representatives or, failing, that a separate bill establishing the zone system, as soon as congress can get around to passing the measure.

It is proposed to establish zones for this class of mailing matter, in some such way as the express companies and the parcel post have adopted the idea, compelling newspapers and magazines to pay an increased rate for what may be known as the long haul, aggregating for the longest distances, something like six cents a pound, or six times the present rate.

It has been pointed out that this would cut off the circulation of a large number of magazines except within the closer zones to the place of publication. As by far the largest number of such publications are issued from the cities of the eastern states, that would result in the cessation of their circulation in the more distant western states, for the very simple reason that the price of transportation would cost more than the publisher or the patron could pay.

This would result in what would very soon amount to sectional circulation of magazines and result in a sectional instead of general distribution of information and knowledge, a distinct retrogression in the idea of nationality.

Some plan may be devised by which the great magazines could assume a much greater share of the burden of transportation than they now pay, but there should be no system adopted that will cut off the myriad of educational, religious, industrial, scientific and general publications that are not now making more than sufficient money to keep them alive.

Education and enlightenment should never be discouraged in this country and, if necessary, the burden of distribution should be borne by the general public rather than to inflict damage and destruction on the very instrumentalities that are depended upon for the spread of light and knowledge.

HAS INTERESTING HISTORY.

An interesting story is told in these columns this morning of the beginnings of the Dade county fair and its success during the twenty years of its existence—it is now preparing to hold its twenty-first annual exhibition of the products of Dade county.

This fair association is probably unique among all the county fairs in this country, wherever located, in that it has never attempted to make money for itself or for any of those connected with it; in that it has never charged admission to any of its exhibits; in that it has depended entirely upon the good-will and support of the whole county for its existence, and in that it has been conducted by one man, with varying aid, during the whole twenty years.

Begun almost accidentally, it might be said, the fair has grown each year more valuable as an advertising asset and attracting more and more visitors as each successive fair is opened to the public. No one institution here has had a more continuous existence and uniform growth, no one institution has rendered more valuable aid to the whole county.

This year the fair will exceed in interest any that have gone before, just as each fair held has outranked the one previous. It is still one of the greatest advertising factors and will have largely increased attendance this year.

It should be remembered that this fair is supported entirely by public subscription, those who conduct it receiving nothing for their hard labors and effective superintendance. As they have made the fair so valuable an adjunct to the county's prosperity and growth, they ought to be supported generously and freely in what they are accomplishing for the general good. Subscriptions to the necessary funds should be prompt, large and numerous, that the Dade county fair may continue its useful history and be continually a growing institution.

COLD STORAGE.

In the discussion of food prices much is said in haste, without knowledge of the facts. The storage of perishable food products is a highly speculative and competitive business, involving risk, because the weather is a large factor in the supply. It is an open field. Cold storage warehouses are usually public warehouses where anybody may rent space. Every few years there is a lot of newspaper publicity over money made by the storage of products, but not so much is said publicly of the losses that occur in the same business.

When prices are high there is always indignation over the fact that products remain in storage, but how high would prices be if there were no products in storage? The fact that they are there is an influence upon prices, and the more there are there the greater the influence.

The theory of the critic is that the owner holds to make prices go up, but he usually holds because he thinks prices will go up, and it can hardly be said that there is any moral turpitude in that. All commodities are carried forward in the belief that they will be worth more at a later date, and this is a public service, because price and supply are thereby equalized throughout the year. There is no better protection to the public than an open, free market. Arbitrary interference, as by official price regulation, is simply another risk to be encountered by the dealer, which must be covered by the margin of profit. It is only justified in some great emergency, when the risks of the business become too great for individual dealers to carry, and the government may properly come forward and assume both risks and profits.—Bankers' Bulletin.

STATE PRESS

Lakeland Telegram.

The proposed electric line between the east and west coasts will do much to bring these sections together. Heretofore Miami and Tampa, each the metropolis of a great and thriving portion of the state, and neighbors as the crow flies, have been so remote from each other in the matter of transportation as if they were located in different states. It will not be long before several lines of steam and electric railways will travrse what was once considered the impassable Everglades, and make one great and united section of the south Florida peninsula. There should be no rivalry between the east coast and the west coast. Each has its peculiar charm, each possesses a certain individuality in regard to its products, topographical features, etc., and the visitor to one should have easy access to the delights of the other. This will be one of the big accomplishments of the state within the next few years—though it has not been so long ago when such an idea seemed as impracticable as an over-sea railway.

HOBART

George V. Hobart, one of the most popular of humorists and playwrights now writing for the American public, is 50 years old today.

Like Bliss Carman, Charles G. D. Roberts and other brilliant Canadians who have sought a wider public in Uncle Sam's land. George Hobart early made his way to "the states."

He was born at Cape Breton, N. S., Jan. 16, 1867, and educated in Nova Scotia. His remarkable career as a writer began in newspaper work in Maryland. For the Baltimore News he originated the famous "Dinkelspiel" papers.

He has since written a score of books read and laughed over the length and breadth of America.

As a playwright, Mr. Hobart has scored some of the most conspicuous successes in American comedy, notably "Sally in Our Alley," "The Candy Shop," "Experience," etc. With Edna Ferber he was joint author of "Our Mrs. McChesney," in which Ethel Barrymore has been lately starring.

PROMISE AND PERFORMANCE.

It is becoming apparent that neither the law, the custom nor a promise is to have much weight in the present state administration.

It would be entirely unfair to criticise the governor for what he may be expected to do or to leave undone, but enough has transpired since the inauguration to indicate that the law is not to be tracked and that promises made both before and after the election are not to be kept.

Governor Catts stated immediately after the election that he proposed nothing drastic, that he had no enemies to punish, that all should receive a fair deal and that efficiency was to be the peculiar mark of his administration.

In response to repeated representations from the war department, the people of this state, two years ago adopted an amendment to the constitution making the term of office of all national guard commissioned officers to read "for a term continuous, during the pleasure of the governor," to conform to the practice in the federal army, where the president has the appointing power.

The meaning of that amendment is that an officer shall hold his office until removed by the governor, for cause, and not at his willful pleasure.

An efficient and experienced adjutant general has already been removed, although the administration has been in office barely two weeks, and a man appointed in his place, totally without experience, and whose appointment is specifically forbidden by the law of the state.

That is one infraction of the law and probably the most glaring incident, but there is another in connection with this administration to which attention should be called.

At the inauguration of the governor, the most ostentatious affair of the kind that probably ever took place at Tallahassee, there appeared certain gentlemen who posed as the governor's staff, arrayed in the uniform of officers of the United States army, although the federal law and the law of the state of Florida both forbid any but members of the regular army, the national guard and a few others, among whom members of a governor's staff do not number, from wearing such uniform, and each and every one of them is liable to prosecution under the state law and under the federal law for this infraction of the regulations.

Violation of law in any respect is not a little thing. When it is done by the leading official of the state and by those who immediately surround him, it leads to further violations on the part of others, and in a disrespect to all law.

In substituting for an able and efficient officer one without experience, the governor is not making for efficiency, that efficiency which he so loudly proclaimed in his celebrated address to the people of Florida, immediately after the election. In removing General Foster he is punishing one who did not support him for the nomination. He has violated two of the pledges voluntarily given to the people, without saying anything of the violation of law in appointing a man to the position who is not eligible under the law.

Mention of these things is made now so that the people may keep clearly in mind the many pledges of the governor, both before and after his election, and be able to compare them with his performance, as time goes on.

China will never take a place among the nations until she gets rid of some of her antiquated notions. A man in the government service resigned because his father was appointed to a position in the cabinet. That isn't the way we do it in these United States of America.

The entente allies need not be so proud about it, we can lose a cruiser ourselves, once in a while.

Another civic association has been added to the list in Miami. Now if that new one will not attempt to run all the affairs of the city, the state and the nation, it will probably be able to do a vast amount of good for its immediate community.

Speaking of general disarmament, Florida is the first to order its navy into port for the purpose of dismantling it of all offensive weapons.

Rather clever that, getting the German note on the wires at the psychological moment when the entente note was coming to the president.

Now will Tom Lawson get into the magazines in a great installment story on "What I Know About Leaks?"

What we gather from that investigation is that one who owns an able-bodied leak may turn it into cash at about any time.

LIMITING SPREAD OF INFORMATION.

One feature of the proposed "zone" system of postal rates for publication should receive the careful consideration of the people at large. We say "proposed" because, while the provision for establishing the zone system for determining what part of the postal revenues newspapers and periodicals should pay, has been stricken out of the postal appropriation bill, there is a direct threat that attempts will be made to reinsert it when it comes before the house of representatives or, failing, that a separate bill establishing the zone system, as soon as congress can get around to passing the measure.

It is proposed to establish zones for this class of mailing matter, in some such way as the express companies and the parcel post have adopted the idea, compelling newspapers and magazines to pay an increased rate for what may be known as the long haul, aggregating for the longest distances, something like six cents a pound, or six times the present rate.

It has been pointed out that this would cut off the circulation of a large number of magazines except within the closer zones to the place of publication. As by far the largest number of such publications are issued from the cities of the eastern states, that would result in the cessation of their circulation in the more distant western states, for the very simple reason that the price of transportation would cost more than the publisher or the patron could pay.

This would result in what would very soon amount to sectional circulation of magazines and result in a sectional instead of general distribution of information and knowledge, a distinct retrogression in the idea of nationality.

Some plan may be devised by which the great magazines could assume a much greater share of the burden of transportation than they now pay, but there should be no system adopted that will cut off the myriad of educational, religious, industrial, scientific and general publications that are not now making more than sufficient money to keep them alive.

Education and enlightenment should never be discouraged in this country and, if necessary, the burden of distribution should be borne by the general public rather than to inflict damage and destruction on the very instrumentalities that are depended upon for the spread of light and knowledge.

HAS INTERESTING HISTORY.

An interesting story is told in these columns this morning of the beginnings of the Dade county fair and its success during the twenty years of its existence—it is now preparing to hold its twenty-first annual exhibition of the products of Dade county.

This fair association is probably unique among all the county fairs in this country, wherever located, in that it has never attempted to make money for itself or for any of those connected with it; in that it has never charged admission to any of its exhibits; in that it has depended entirely upon the good-will and support of the whole county for its existence, and in that it has been conducted by one man, with varying aid, during the whole twenty years.

Begun almost accidentally, it might be said, the fair has grown each year more valuable as an advertising asset and attracting more and more visitors as each successive fair is opened to the public. No one institution here has had a more continuous existence and uniform growth, no one institution has rendered more valuable aid to the whole county.

This year the fair will exceed in interest any that have gone before, just as each fair held has outranked the one previous. It is still one of the greatest advertising factors and will have largely increased attendance this year.

It should be remembered that this fair is supported entirely by public subscription, those who conduct it receiving nothing for their hard labors and effective superintendance. As they have made the fair so valuable an adjunct to the county's prosperity and growth, they ought to be supported generously and freely in what they are accomplishing for the general good. Subscriptions to the necessary funds should be prompt, large and numerous, that the Dade county fair may continue its useful history and be continually a growing institution.

COLD STORAGE.

In the discussion of food prices much is said in haste, without knowledge of the facts. The storage of perishable food products is a highly speculative and competitive business, involving risk, because the weather is a large factor in the supply. It is an open field. Cold storage warehouses are usually public warehouses where anybody may rent space. Every few years there is a lot of newspaper publicity over money made by the storage of products, but not so much is said publicly of the losses that occur in the same business.

When prices are high there is always indignation over the fact that products remain in storage, but how high would prices be if there were no products in storage? The fact that they are there is an influence upon prices, and the more there are there the greater the influence.

The theory of the critic is that the owner holds to make prices go up, but he usually holds because he thinks prices will go up, and it can hardly be said that there is any moral turpitude in that. All commodities are carried forward in the belief that they will be worth more at a later date, and this is a public service, because price and supply are thereby equalized throughout the year. There is no better protection to the public than an open, free market. Arbitrary interference, as by official price regulation, is simply another risk to be encountered by the dealer, which must be covered by the margin of profit. It is only justified in some great emergency, when the risks of the business become too great for individual dealers to carry, and the government may properly come forward and assume both risks and profits.—Bankers' Bulletin.

Lakeland Telegram.

The proposed electric line between the east and west coasts will do much to bring these sections together. Heretofore Miami and Tampa, each the metropolis of a great and thriving portion of the state, and neighbors as the crow flies, have been so remote from each other in the matter of transportation as if they were located in different states. It will not be long before several lines of steam and electric railways will travrse what was once considered the impassable Everglades, and make one great and united section of the south Florida peninsula. There should be no rivalry between the east coast and the west coast. Each has its peculiar charm, each possesses a certain individuality in regard to its products, topographical features, etc., and the visitor to one should have easy access to the delights of the other. This will be one of the big accomplishments of the state within the next few years—though it has not been so long ago when such an idea seemed as impracticable as an over-sea railway.

A certain rector just before the service was called to the vestibule to meet a couple who wanted to be married. He explained that there wasn't time for the ceremony then, "but," said he, "if you will be seated I will give an opportunity at the end of the service for you to come forward, and I will then perform the ceremony."

The couple agreed, and at the proper moment the clergyman said: "Will those who wish to be united in the holy bonds of matrimony please come forward?"

Whereupon thirteen women and one man proceeded to the altar.

"You are very fond of using big words, Julius," said a gentleman to his negro servant.

"Yus, sah," answered Julius. "A friend of mine once saved his life by using a long word."

"How was that, Julius?"

"Well, you see, sah, he called me a prevaricator. If he'd called me a liar I'd have gone for him at once, but by the time I'd turned up the dictionary to see what a prevaricator was he was fifty miles away."

HOBART

Like Bliss Carman, Charles G. D. Roberts and other brilliant Canadians who have sought a wider public in Uncle Sam's land, George Hobart early made his way to "the states."

He was born at Cape Breton, N. S., Jan. 16, 1867, and educated in Nova Scotia. His remarkable career as a writer began in newspaper work in Maryland. For the Baltimore News he originated the famous "Dinkelspiel" papers.

He has since written a score of books read and laughed over the length and breadth of America.

As a playwright, Mr. Hobart has scored some of the most conspicuous successes in American comedy, notably "Sally in Our Alley," "The Candy Shop," "Experience," etc. With Edna Ferber he was joint author of "Our Mrs. McChesney," in which Ethel Barrymore has been lately starring.

MIAMI RECORD WARMEST CITY ON YESTERDAY

Cold Everywhere Except on the Florida Peninsula---The Freeze in Canada.

Miami was the warmest city in the United States yesterday with a temperature of seventy-three degres, and Key West ranked second with the mercury registering seventy-two.

Cold weather prevailed throughout the United States except in the Florida peninsula. In the southwestern part of the United States the weather was moderately warm.

San Diego, the southern-most resort city in California, rejoiced in normal temperature for the season, the thermometer registering fifty.

Snow occurred throughout the north Atlantic states, and from the southern Ohio valley and Tennessee westward over the Mississippi valley and plain states. Snow also extended into the northern part of the gulf states.

NOTHING LIKE THIS CLIMATE IN THE WORLD

CAME THROUGH SNOWS

Passed Sections of West Where Cattle Are Starving by Wholesale.

"I know pretty much of this country and some of the rest of the world, and Miami has everything beat for climate."

And the man who said that yesterday to a Herald representative is from Los Angeles, California.

He is H. S. Stevens, son-in-law of "Governor" John Robinson, the showman whose home is in Fort Dallas Park, this city. Mr. Stevens has a home adjoining that of the "governor," and his wife is with him here. His children are at Eau Gallie school.

Mr. Stevens is an attorney by profession, and is especially engaged in looking after the interests of Mr. Robinson in the John Robinson shows, which are wintering at Americus, Georgia. He arrived in Miami Sunday direct from Los Angeles, which has been his winter home the past four years.

"Eleven days ago," said Mr. Stevens, "in Los Angeles, I saw bitter cold rain, the kind that freezes one, and with it we discerned falling snow. It was the most miserable weather I have ever experienced, and I have known Los Angeles since it was a town of 20,000 inhabitants.

"I came through Utah and Ogden and over to Chicago. One hundred miles west of Cheyenne there was four feet of snow, and the cattle people said their stock was starving to death. Those who wanted to buy hay had to pay $40 a ton for it. This was the condition between Wyoming and Idaho.

Mr. Stevens said that it is a positive delight for him to get to Miami and enjoy weather that cannot be equalled in the world, according to his opinion.

"Let me give Miami a suggestion," he added, "in all kindness. Miami is not known as it should be through the country. Florida, as a state, is better advertised than Miami. Los Angeles did not grow through the reputation of California, and Miami need not depend upon the reputation of the state of Florida for growth. Make a specialty of advertising Miami, distinctly, and it will bring you the best results. This city has the drawing cards which cannot be found everywhere else, and I think I know where of I speak."

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Grandma's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur darkens so naturally that nobody can tell

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

AMAZED AND PLEASED OVER MAGIC CITY

Leading Indiana Banker Meets Many Hoosiers Here and Is Delighted.

Carroll C. Tandy, a prominent lawyer and banker, of Vevay, Ind., who is on a visit to Miami with Mrs. Tandy and their daughter, Miss Julia Tandy, is amazed at the great growth that Miami has attained in the short period of twenty years.

"I only regret that I cannot remain here longer this time but business matters will call me home after a few days," said Mr. Tandy when seen at the Hotel Urmey, last night. "You can rest assured though, that we will return here early next season and spend the entire winter here."

As president of the First National Bank of Vevay, which position he has held for many years, Mr. Tandy is well able to judge as to the future outlook of the country and predicts indefinite prosperity. The conditions are good in his opinion and there should be no reason to expect a setback in any section.

What impressed Mr. Tandy more than anything else here, was the fact that he has met so many of his former Indiana friends, all of whom seem to be prosperous, which indicates that Miami is a pretty good place to settle and grow up with.

He visited Miami Beach where he met his friend, Carl G. Fisher, and is amazed at the wonderful development that gentleman had made there. He also spoke of the new Hotel Urmey and felt proud of the fact that a former Indiana man is at the head of such a beautiful structure.

"Miami seems to be full of Indiana people and all seem to be prosperous," continued Mr. Tandy, who recalled a number of former Hoosiers whom he has met since arriving in Miami a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Tandy and daughter were visited at their hotel last night by Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Shutts, and other former Indiana people who knew them in other years.

"I have no opportunity of comparing the growth of Miami with former years but have seen enough of the place, however, to judge the marvelous development of the city in the past two decades and must say that it is wonderful. To think that there was practically nothing here a score of years ago and now to visit a city of twenty-six or seven thousand inhabitants, seems to be beyond comprehension.

"You have a most beautiful city here and from what I have seen of the place, the ambition and the energy of the people, it would indicate in my mind that this will become one of the largest cities in the south.

"I am particularly impressed with the splendid climate, which, no doubt is the chief attraction and is sufficient to make this one of the greatest watering places in the country.

When Mr. and Mrs. Tandy left their Indiana home the thermometer was hovering around zero and the change in the climate of the two places has impressed them very much. They are so pleased with the place that they will return home with regret and would gladly remain all through the winter.

IOWA VISITOR GLAD HE CAME

Benefit to His Health Is Attributed to the Miami Climate.

C. Torstenson, of Milford, Ia., is visiting Florida after an absence of forty-two years, when he first landed in Pensacola, and he now regrets that he ventured out into Iowa where he has since resided.

Cold Everywhere Except on the Florida Peninsula---The Freeze in Canada.

Miami was the warmest city in the United States yesterday with a temperature of seventy-three degres, and Key West ranked second with the mercury registering seventy-two.

Cold weather prevailed throughout the United States except in the Florida peninsula. In the southwestern part of the United States the weather was moderately warm.

San Diego, the southern-most resort city in California, rejoiced in normal temperature for the season, the thermometer registering fifty.

Snow occurred throughout the north Atlantic states, and from the southern Ohio valley and Tennessee westward over the Mississippi valley and plain states. Snow also extended into the northern part of the gulf states.

NOTHING LIKE THIS CLIMATE IN THE WORLD

Passed Sections of West Where Cattle Are Starving by Wholesale.

"I know pretty much of this country and some of the rest of the world, and Miami has everything beat for climate."

And the man who said that yesterday to a Herald representative is from Los Angeles, California.

He is H. S. Stevens, son-in-law of "Governor" John Robinson, the showman whose home is in Fort Dallas Park, this city. Mr. Stevens has a home adjoining that of the "governor," and his wife is with him here. His children are at Eau Gallie school.

Mr. Stevens is an attorney by profession, and is especially engaged in looking after the interests of Mr. Robinson in the John Robinson shows, which are wintering at Americus, Georgia. He arrived in Miami Sunday direct from Los Angeles, which has been his winter home the past four years.

"Eleven days ago," said Mr. Stevens, "in Los Angeles, I saw bitter cold rain, the kind that freezes one, and with it we discerned falling snow. It was the most miserable weather I have ever experienced, and I have known Los Angeles since it was a town of 20,000 inhabitants.

"I came through Utah and Ogden and over to Chicago. One hundred miles west of Cheyenne there was four feet of snow, and the cattle people said their stock was starving to death. Those who wanted to buy hay had to pay $40 a ton for it. This was the condition between Wyoming and Idaho.

Mr. Stevens said that it is a positive delight for him to get to Miami and enjoy weather that cannot be equalled in the world, according to his opinion.

"Let me give Miami a suggestion," he added, "in all kindness. Miami is not known as it should be through the country. Florida, as a state, is better advertised than Miami. Los Angeles did not grow through the reputation of California, and Miami need not depend upon the reputation of the state of Florida for growth. Make a specialty of advertising Miami, distinctly, and it will bring you the best results. This city has the drawing cards which cannot be found everywhere else, and I think I know where of I speak."

Mr. Stevens is here for the season.

DARKEN GRAY HAIR, LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Grandma's recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur darkens so naturally that nobody can tell

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Leading Indiana Banker Meets Many Hoosiers Here and Is Delighted.

Carroll C. Tandy, a prominent lawyer and banker, of Vevay, Ind., who is on a visit to Miami with Mrs. Tandy and their daughter, Miss Julia Tandy, is amazed at the great growth that Miami has attained in the short period of twenty years.

"I only regret that I cannot remain here longer this time but business matters will call me home after a few days," said Mr. Tandy when seen at the Hotel Urmey, last night. "You can rest assured though, that we will return here early next season and spend the entire winter here."

As president of the First National Bank of Vevay, which position he has held for many years, Mr. Tandy is well able to judge as to the future outlook of the country and predicts indefinite prosperity. The conditions are good in his opinion and there should be no reason to expect a setback in any section.

What impressed Mr. Tandy more than anything else here, was the fact that he has met so many of his former Indiana friends, all of whom seem to be prosperous, which indicates that Miami is a pretty good place to settle and grow up with.

He visited Miami Beach where he met his friend, Carl G. Fisher, and is amazed at the wonderful development that gentleman had made there. He also spoke of the new Hotel Urmey and felt proud of the fact that a former Indiana man is at the head of such a beautiful structure.

"Miami seems to be full of Indiana people and all seem to be prosperous," continued Mr. Tandy, who recalled a number of former Hoosiers whom he has met since arriving in Miami a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Tandy and daughter were visited at their hotel last night by Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Shutts, and other former Indiana people who knew them in other years.

"I have no opportunity of comparing the growth of Miami with former years but have seen enough of the place, however, to judge the marvelous development of the city in the past two decades and must say that it is wonderful. To think that there was practically nothing here a score of years ago and now to visit a city of twenty-six or seven thousand inhabitants, seems to be beyond comprehension.

"You have a most beautiful city here and from what I have seen of the place, the ambition and the energy of the people, it would indicate in my mind that this will become one of the largest cities in the south.

"I am particularly impressed with the splendid climate, which, no doubt is the chief attraction and is sufficient to make this one of the greatest watering places in the country.

When Mr. and Mrs. Tandy left their Indiana home the thermometer was hovering around zero and the change in the climate of the two places has impressed them very much. They are so pleased with the place that they will return home with regret and would gladly remain all through the winter.

INTERESTING TALK GIVEN ON AIR MACHINES

Roger Jannus, Instructor in Flying, Addresses a Large Audience.

It has already been shown beyond a doubt that an airplane can make a sustained flight for a distance as great as from the United States to Europe, Roger Jannus, one of the instructors of the Curtiss aviation school of Miami, told an audience at the White Temple Methodist church last night.

Phil Rader, chief instructor, had been requested to talk and agreed to do so, but was suddenly called to Pensacola by his company, and Mr. Jannus kindly consented to take his place as the principal speaker of the evening at the organization meeting of the White Temple Men's club.

Mr. Jannus explained his meaning by saying that numerous aviators have remained in the air for twenty-four hours at a stretch, but that since their flight was not straight-away they covered no such distance between two given points as the distance between the two continents. However, had their flight been on a continuous line it no doubt would have carried them fully that far, he added.

In his opening sentences Mr. Jannus explained the terminology of flying. He dealt with the two classes of air machines, heavier and lighter than air. The latter are the gas balloons and the former the airplanes, he said.

Airplanes are divided into two principal classes, he told his hearers. They are hydro-airplanes and airplanes. The hydro-airplanes are divided into two kinds, the sea planes and the flying boats, the principal difference being that the sea plane has a float and the flying boat a boat's hull for traveling through the water.

The airplanes are also made in three styles, or kinds, to which the terms monoplane, biplane and triplane are applied. Both hydro-airplanes and airplanes are made in all three styles.

Mr. Jannus said the Curtiss company has made only one or two monoplanes, but recently has built a number of triplanes which have proved very satisfactory, and it is quite likely that one or more triplanes will be brought to Miami this winter.

Accidents to aviators have been caused principally by constructional weaknesses of their machines, he told. Very few instances have been recorded of accidents due to poor piloting or bad air conditions. He exploded a popular belief when he declared that much of the talk about air pockets is "a lot of nonsense."

Flying has passed the experimental stage and is fast outgrowing the stage where accidents occur from weaknesses of construction in machines, as the airplanes are now built by engineers who figure out to a nicety just how much strain each and every part of the machines can stand.

As a consequence of the mathematical precision employed in building airplanes there are very few accidents nowadays, notwithstanding that an enormous amount of flying is being done, he asserted.

In the course of his talk Mr. Jannus alluded to the success of the airplane on the European battle fronts and of the various purposes for which it is employed. All types of airplanes are used there, he said, but the majority are biplanes. Some of the great seaplanes are 200 feet in width, he added. However, despite their great lifting power it is a rare occurrence when more than three or four men go up in them, as they are employed principally for carrying large quantities of explosives.

As Mr. Jannus has but recently returned from Europe, his talk along this line was especially interesting to his hearers, and his description of battles in the air, although brief, was thrilling.

Airplanes are constructed so cleverly nowadays that they can almost fly alone, he said, while speaking of the use to which the stabilizer is put. They are inherently stable without any device, although the stabilizer is useful in the event that the operator desires to take his hands from the control because of injury to himself or for any other reason.

The pilot who can loop the loop and do other tricks has a better chance of saving his life in the event of accident than has the "one-foot-on-the-ground" flier, Mr. Jannus declared. A pilot is regarded as a "one-foot-on-the-ground" flier unless he can slide down tail first, or with one wing down, or do the "little things like that."

The object of the Curtiss school in Miami is to train men for the aeronautical reserve of the army, he explained. It is the desire of the war department to train a large number of men to fly and give them a certain amount of practice yearly so that they will be available in the event of war.

Mr. Jannus doubted if the "Ford of the air" will ever be a success, as the small machine does not work well. "I can't see the possibility," he said, "of a man jumping into his machine, as he does on a bicycle, and going down town to business." He added that the large machine spans over the "bumps" in the air and neutralizes the uneven currents, while the small machine has to jolt over these uneven places just as the "Flivver" of the road does.

However, he thought the time will come when a large business of transporting passengers and mail by air will be done, and perhaps a certain amount of freight will be carried in the same manner.

COMING OF ROYAL SCOTCH HIGHLANDERS MAY BE DELAYED

Although the Royal Scotch Highlanders, the band employed by the city for concerts during the season is scheduled to arrive in Miami in time for a concert tomorrow night, it is now expected that they may be delayed in arriving, as the members had scattered after their recent engagement in the northwest to various parts of the west from the Canadian border to Texas and had to be re-assembled.

The band will assemble in Jacksonville and come to Miami in a body, for an engagement extending through nine weeks, and perhaps longer.

The Royal Scotch Highlanders are popularly known as the "Kilties" and are recognized as one of the most excellent concert bands in the United States, and should be the means, it is believed, of adding greatly to the pleasure of Miami's visitors during the present season.

STORM OF ICE AND SNOW SWEEPS OVER THE CENTRAL SOUTH

Washington, Jan. 15.—Georgia and Florida are the only southern states escaping the snow and ice storms which last night and today swept a section from central Texas to Virginia.

The weather bureau says that the storms will continue tomorrow.

Five inches of snow fell at Memphis, and sleet interfered with traffic at Nashville. Birmingham is covered with ice, while North Carolina and Virginia points suffered from cold and snow.

E. H. SOTHERN AT PARAMOUNT THEATRE

"An Enemy to the King," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature starring the most famous actor of the modern stage, E. H. Sothern, and the versatile star, Edith Storey, is the attraction at the Paramount theatre today.

In his production, which is Mr. Sothern's own choice of the role which he desired to make immortal, are cast a number of the players who gave the original characterizations to the roles.

Rolin Buxton is one of these, and he proves himself as clever a screen performer as legitimate player. Mr. Buxton lends a bit of humor to the production which is most welcome, and his many friends who have witnessed his characterizations upon the stage in the support of Mr. Sothern will enjoy this opportunity of watching him upon the screen.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Save your hair! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?--that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

SHRINE AT GASPARILLA.

Tampa, Jan. 15.—Saturday, Ferruary 10, the last day of the South Florida Fair and Gasparilla carnival, has been decided upon for the Shriner doings this year, and plans are under foot for a big parade in the afternoon and a ceremonial that night at the Tampa Bay casino at which possibly 100 will be introduced to the secrets of the Shrine. Fred Fletcher, president of the Tampa Shriners' club, declared today that the petitions already received indicate a big class this year.

Last year's Shriner's activities drew about 1,100 all told, with a delegation 400 strong from Jacksonville. Morroco Temple will be on hand during Gasparilla in full force, with W. R. Steckert of Gainesville, who succeeded Harry Roberts as potentate, leading the invaders. Alee Temple at Savannah has sent word that it will be represented and the Shriners at Havana promised during the visit of Tampans to that city that some of their number would return the call.

ALDERMAN'S MOTHER BROKEN IN HEALTH IS TAKEN TO ASYLUM

A pathetic sequence of the Homestead bank robebry was the departure last night of the mother of Hugh Alderman, one of the alleged bandits, for the insane asylum at Chattahoochee. The unfortunate woman, who is not violent but is considered dangerous was accompanied by a nurse, leaving Miami on the midnight train.

Soon after the bank robbery and the implication of Hugh Alderman in the crime, as well as that of murder, Mrs. Alderman's health began to fail ,and the overwrought nervous condition caused a mental complication which grew rapidly worse. A few days ago she was examined by local physicians and a jury of inquisition declared her to be insane.

It is not understood that she is incurable, but for her own safety and for that of others it was considered necessary that she be sent away for treatment.

HERE FOR THEIR HEALTH.

Roger Jannus, Instructor in Flying, Addresses a Large Audience.

It has already been shown beyond a doubt that an airplane can make a sustained flight for a distance as great as from the United States to Europe, Roger Jannus, one of the instructors of the Curtiss aviation school of Miami, told an audience at the White Temple Methodist church last night.

Phil Rader, chief instructor, had been requested to talk and agreed to do so, but was suddenly called to Pensacola by his company, and Mr. Jannus kindly consented to take his place as the principal speaker of the evening at the organization meeting of the White Temple Men's club.

Mr. Jannus explained his meaning by saying that numerous aviators have remained in the air for twenty-four hours at a stretch, but that since their flight was not straight-away they covered no such distance between two given points as the distance between the two continents. However, had their flight been on a continuous line it no doubt would have carried them fully that far, he added.

In his opening sentences Mr. Jannus explained the terminology of flying. He dealt with the two classes of air machines, heavier and lighter than air. The latter are the gas balloons and the former the airplanes, he said.

Airplanes are divided into two principal classes, he told his hearers. They are hydro-airplanes and airplanes. The hydro-airplanes are divided into two kinds, the sea planes and the flying boats, the principal difference being that the sea plane has a float and the flying boat a boat's hull for traveling through the water.

The airplanes are also made in three styles, or kinds, to which the terms monoplane, biplane and triplane are applied. Both hydro-airplanes and airplanes are made in all three styles.

Mr. Jannus said the Curtiss company has made only one or two monoplanes, but recently has built a number of triplanes which have proved very satisfactory, and it is quite likely that one or more triplanes will be brought to Miami this winter.

Accidents to aviators have been caused principally by constructional weaknesses of their machines, he told. Very few instances have been recorded of accidents due to poor piloting or bad air conditions. He exploded a popular belief when he declared that much of the talk about air pockets is "a lot of nonsense."

Flying has passed the experimental stage and is fast outgrowing the stage where accidents occur from weaknesses of construction in machines, as the airplanes are now built by engineers who figure out to a nicety just how much strain each and every part of the machines can stand.

As a consequence of the mathematical precision employed in building airplanes there are very few accidents nowadays, notwithstanding that an enormous amount of flying is being done, he asserted.

In the course of his talk Mr. Jannus alluded to the success of the airplane on the European battle fronts and of the various purposes for which it is employed. All types of airplanes are used there, he said, but the majority are biplanes. Some of the great seaplanes are 200 feet in width, he added. However, despite their great lifting power it is a rare occurrence when more than three or four men go up in them, as they are employed principally for carrying large quantities of explosives.

As Mr. Jannus has but recently returned from Europe, his talk along this line was especially interesting to his hearers, and his description of battles in the air, although brief, was thrilling.

Airplanes are constructed so cleverly nowadays that they can almost fly alone, he said, while speaking of the use to which the stabilizer is put. They are inherently stable without any device, although the stabilizer is useful in the event that the operator desires to take his hands from the control because of injury to himself or for any other reason.

The pilot who can loop the loop and do other tricks has a better chance of saving his life in the event of accident than has the "one-foot-on-the-ground" flier, Mr. Jannus declared. A pilot is regarded as a "one-foot-on-the-ground" flier unless he can slide down tail first, or with one wing down, or do the "little things like that."

The object of the Curtiss school in Miami is to train men for the aeronautical reserve of the army, he explained. It is the desire of the war department to train a large number of men to fly and give them a certain amount of practice yearly so that they will be available in the event of war.

Mr. Jannus doubted if the "Ford of the air" will ever be a success, as the small machine does not work well. "I can't see the possibility," he said, "of a man jumping into his machine, as he does on a bicycle, and going down town to business." He added that the large machine spans over the "bumps" in the air and neutralizes the uneven currents, while the small machine has to jolt over these uneven places just as the "Flivver" of the road does.

However, he thought the time will come when a large business of transporting passengers and mail by air will be done, and perhaps a certain amount of freight will be carried in the same manner.

COMING OF ROYAL SCOTCH HIGHLANDERS MAY BE DELAYED

Although the Royal Scotch Highlanders, the band employed by the city for concerts during the season is scheduled to arrive in Miami in time for a concert tomorrow night, it is now expected that they may be delayed in arriving, as the members had scattered after their recent engagement in the northwest to various parts of the west from the Canadian border to Texas and had to be re-assembled.

The band will assemble in Jacksonville and come to Miami in a body, for an engagement extending through nine weeks, and perhaps longer.

The Royal Scotch Highlanders are popularly known as the "Kilties" and are recognized as one of the most excellent concert bands in the United States, and should be the means, it is believed, of adding greatly to the pleasure of Miami's visitors during the present season.

E. H. SOTHERN AT PARAMOUNT THEATRE

"An Enemy to the King," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature starring the most famous actor of the modern stage, E. H. Sothern, and the versatile star, Edith Storey, is the attraction at the Paramount theatre today.

In his production, which is Mr. Sothern's own choice of the role which he desired to make immortal, are cast a number of the players who gave the original characterizations to the roles.

Rolin Buxton is one of these, and he proves himself as clever a screen performer as legitimate player. Mr. Buxton lends a bit of humor to the production which is most welcome, and his many friends who have witnessed his characterizations upon the stage in the support of Mr. Sothern will enjoy this opportunity of watching him upon the screen.

Roger Jannus, Instructor in Flying, Addresses a Large Audience.

It has already been shown beyond a doubt that an airplane can make a sustained flight for a distance as great as from the United States to Europe, Roger Jannus, one of the instructors of the Curtiss aviation school of Miami, told an audience at the White Temple Methodist church last night.

Phil Rader, chief instructor, had been requested to talk and agreed to do so, but was suddenly called to Pensacola by his company, and Mr. Jannus kindly consented to take his place as the principal speaker of the evening at the organization meeting of the White Temple Men's club.

Mr. Jannus explained his meaning by saying that numerous aviators have remained in the air for twenty-four hours at a stretch, but that since their flight was not straight-away they covered no such distance between two given points as the distance between the two continents. However, had their flight been on a continuous line it no doubt would have carried them fully that far, he added.

In his opening sentences Mr. Jannus explained the terminology of flying. He dealt with the two classes of air machines, heavier and lighter than air. The latter are the gas balloons and the former the airplanes, he said.

Airplanes are divided into two principal classes, he told his hearers. They are hydro-airplanes and airplanes. The hydro-airplanes are divided into two kinds, the sea planes and the flying boats, the principal difference being that the sea plane has a float and the flying boat a boat's hull for traveling through the water.

The airplanes are also made in three styles, or kinds, to which the terms monoplane, biplane and triplane are applied. Both hydro-airplanes and airplanes are made in all three styles.

Mr. Jannus said the Curtiss company has made only one or two monoplanes, but recently has built a number of triplanes which have proved very satisfactory, and it is quite likely that one or more triplanes will be brought to Miami this winter.

Accidents to aviators have been caused principally by constructional weaknesses of their machines, he told. Very few instances have been recorded of accidents due to poor piloting or bad air conditions. He exploded a popular belief when he declared that much of the talk about air pockets is "a lot of nonsense."

Flying has passed the experimental stage and is fast outgrowing the stage where accidents occur from weaknesses of construction in machines, as the airplanes are now built by engineers who figure out to a nicety just how much strain each and every part of the machines can stand.

As a consequence of the mathematical precision employed in building airplanes there are very few accidents nowadays, notwithstanding that an enormous amount of flying is being done, he asserted.

In the course of his talk Mr. Jannus alluded to the success of the airplane on the European battle fronts and of the various purposes for which it is employed. All types of airplanes are used there, he said, but the majority are biplanes. Some of the great seaplanes are 200 feet in width, he added. However, despite their great lifting power it is a rare occurrence when more than three or four men go up in them, as they are employed principally for carrying large quantities of explosives.

As Mr. Jannus has but recently returned from Europe, his talk along this line was especially interesting to his hearers, and his description of battles in the air, although brief, was thrilling.

Airplanes are constructed so cleverly nowadays that they can almost fly alone, he said, while speaking of the use to which the stabilizer is put. They are inherently stable without any device, although the stabilizer is useful in the event that the operator desires to take his hands from the control because of injury to himself or for any other reason.

The pilot who can loop the loop and do other tricks has a better chance of saving his life in the event of accident than has the "one-foot-on-the-ground" flier, Mr. Jannus declared. A pilot is regarded as a "one-foot-on-the-ground" flier unless he can slide down tail first, or with one wing down, or do the "little things like that."

The object of the Curtiss school in Miami is to train men for the aeronautical reserve of the army, he explained. It is the desire of the war department to train a large number of men to fly and give them a certain amount of practice yearly so that they will be available in the event of war.

Mr. Jannus doubted if the "Ford of the air" will ever be a success, as the small machine does not work well. "I can't see the possibility," he said, "of a man jumping into his machine, as he does on a bicycle, and going down town to business." He added that the large machine spans over the "bumps" in the air and neutralizes the uneven currents, while the small machine has to jolt over these uneven places just as the "Flivver" of the road does.

However, he thought the time will come when a large business of transporting passengers and mail by air will be done, and perhaps a certain amount of freight will be carried in the same manner.

COMING OF ROYAL SCOTCH HIGHLANDERS MAY BE DELAYED

Although the Royal Scotch Highlanders, the band employed by the city for concerts during the season is scheduled to arrive in Miami in time for a concert tomorrow night, it is now expected that they may be delayed in arriving, as the members had scattered after their recent engagement in the northwest to various parts of the west from the Canadian border to Texas and had to be re-assembled.

The band will assemble in Jacksonville and come to Miami in a body, for an engagement extending through nine weeks, and perhaps longer.

The Royal Scotch Highlanders are popularly known as the "Kilties" and are recognized as one of the most excellent concert bands in the United States, and should be the means, it is believed, of adding greatly to the pleasure of Miami's visitors during the present season.

STORM OF ICE AND SNOW SWEEPS OVER THE CENTRAL SOUTH

Washington, Jan. 15.—Georgia and Florida are the only southern states escaping the snow and ice storms which last night and today swept a section from central Texas to Virginia.

The weather bureau says that the storms will continue tomorrow.

AMUSEMENTS

E. H. SOTHERN AT PARAMOUNT THEATRE

"An Enemy to the King," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature starring the most famous actor of the modern stage, E. H. Sothern, and the versatile star, Edith Storey, is the attraction at the Paramount theatre today.

In his production, which is Mr. Sothern's own choice of the role which he desired to make immortal, are cast a number of the players who gave the original characterizations to the roles.

Rolin Buxton is one of these, and he proves himself as clever a screen performer as legitimate player. Mr. Buxton lends a bit of humor to the production which is most welcome, and his many friends who have witnessed his characterizations upon the stage in the support of Mr. Sothern will enjoy this opportunity of watching him upon the screen.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Save your hair! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

PULLMANS REDUCE GRAPEFRUIT PRICE

It is stated that the Pullman Company has been induced, by Florida interests, to reduce the price of Florida grapefruit served on all the company's dining cars to 10 cents for a half portion and 15 cents for a whole portion.

The high prices heretofore charged had, it was thought, interfered with the consumption and consequent advertisement of grapefruit, and growers and commercial bodies in the state asked that the price be reduced. As a consequence the lower prices will be printed on all of the company's menus.

SHRINE AT GASPARILLA.

Tampa, Jan. 15.—Saturday, Ferruary 10, the last day of the South Florida Fair and Gasparilla carnival, has been decided upon for the Shriner doings this year, and plans are under foot for a big parade in the afternoon and a ceremonial that night at the Tampa Bay casino at which possibly 100 will be introduced to the secrets of the Shrine. Fred Fletcher, president of the Tampa Shriners' club, declared today that the petitions already received indicate a big class this year.

Last year's Shriner's activities drew about 1,100 all told, with a delegation 400 strong from Jacksonville. Morroco Temple will be on hand during Gasparilla in full force, with W. R. Steckert of Gainesville, who succeeded Harry Roberts as potentate, leading the invaders. Alee Temple at Savannah has sent word that it will be represented and the Shriners at Havana promised during the visit of Tampans to that city that some of their number would return the call.

Roger Jannus, Instructor in Flying, Addresses a Large Audience.

It has already been shown beyond a doubt that an airplane can make a sustained flight for a distance as great as from the United States to Europe, Roger Jannus, one of the instructors of the Curtiss aviation school of Miami, told an audience at the White Temple Methodist church last night.

Phil Rader, chief instructor, had been requested to talk and agreed to do so, but was suddenly called to Pensacola by his company, and Mr. Jannus kindly consented to take his place as the principal speaker of the evening at the organization meeting of the White Temple Men's club.

Mr. Jannus explained his meaning by saying that numerous aviators have remained in the air for twenty-four hours at a stretch, but that since their flight was not straight-away they covered no such distance between two given points as the distance between the two continents. However, had their flight been on a continuous line it no doubt would have carried them fully that far, he added.

In his opening sentences Mr. Jannus explained the terminology of flying. He dealt with the two classes of air machines, heavier and lighter than air. The latter are the gas balloons and the former the airplanes, he said.

Airplanes are divided into two principal classes, he told his hearers. They are hydro-airplanes and airplanes. The hydro-airplanes are divided into two kinds, the sea planes and the flying boats, the principal difference being that the sea plane has a float and the flying boat a boat's hull for traveling through the water.

The airplanes are also made in three styles, or kinds, to which the terms monoplane, biplane and triplane are applied. Both hydro-airplanes and airplanes are made in all three styles.

Mr. Jannus said the Curtiss company has made only one or two monoplanes, but recently has built a number of triplanes which have proved very satisfactory, and it is quite likely that one or more triplanes will be brought to Miami this winter.

Accidents to aviators have been caused principally by constructional weaknesses of their machines, he told. Very few instances have been recorded of accidents due to poor piloting or bad air conditions. He exploded a popular belief when he declared that much of the talk about air pockets is "a lot of nonsense."

Flying has passed the experimental stage and is fast outgrowing the stage where accidents occur from weaknesses of construction in machines, as the airplanes are now built by engineers who figure out to a nicety just how much strain each and every part of the machines can stand.

As a consequence of the mathematical precision employed in building airplanes there are very few accidents nowadays, notwithstanding that an enormous amount of flying is being done, he asserted.

In the course of his talk Mr. Jannus alluded to the success of the airplane on the European battle fronts and of the various purposes for which it is employed. All types of airplanes are used there, he said, but the majority are biplanes. Some of the great seaplanes are 200 feet in width, he added. However, despite their great lifting power it is a rare occurrence when more than three or four men go up in them, as they are employed principally for carrying large quantities of explosives.

As Mr. Jannus has but recently returned from Europe, his talk along this line was especially interesting to his hearers, and his description of battles in the air, although brief, was thrilling.

Airplanes are constructed so cleverly nowadays that they can almost fly alone, he said, while speaking of the use to which the stabilizer is put. They are inherently stable without any device, although the stabilizer is useful in the event that the operator desires to take his hands from the control because of injury to himself or for any other reason.

The pilot who can loop the loop and do other tricks has a better chance of saving his life in the event of accident than has the "one-foot-on-the-ground" flier, Mr. Jannus declared. A pilot is regarded as a "one-foot-on-the-ground" flier unless he can slide down tail first, or with one wing down, or do the "little things like that."

The object of the Curtiss school in Miami is to train men for the aeronautical reserve of the army, he explained. It is the desire of the war department to train a large number of men to fly and give them a certain amount of practice yearly so that they will be available in the event of war.

Mr. Jannus doubted if the "Ford of the air" will ever be a success, as the small machine does not work well. "I can't see the possibility," he said, "of a man jumping into his machine, as he does on a bicycle, and going down town to business." He added that the large machine spans over the "bumps" in the air and neutralizes the uneven currents, while the small machine has to jolt over these uneven places just as the "Flivver" of the road does.

However, he thought the time will come when a large business of transporting passengers and mail by air will be done, and perhaps a certain amount of freight will be carried in the same manner.

COMING OF ROYAL SCOTCH HIGHLANDERS MAY BE DELAYED

Although the Royal Scotch Highlanders, the band employed by the city for concerts during the season is scheduled to arrive in Miami in time for a concert tomorrow night, it is now expected that they may be delayed in arriving, as the members had scattered after their recent engagement in the northwest to various parts of the west from the Canadian border to Texas and had to be re-assembled.

The band will assemble in Jacksonville and come to Miami in a body, for an engagement extending through nine weeks, and perhaps longer.

The Royal Scotch Highlanders are popularly known as the "Kilties" and are recognized as one of the most excellent concert bands in the United States, and should be the means, it is believed, of adding greatly to the pleasure of Miami's visitors during the present season.

STORM OF ICE AND SNOW SWEEPS OVER THE CENTRAL SOUTH

Washington, Jan. 15.—Georgia and Florida are the only southern states escaping the snow and ice storms which last night and today swept a section from central Texas to Virginia.

The weather bureau says that the storms will continue tomorrow.

E. H. SOTHERN AT PARAMOUNT THEATRE

"An Enemy to the King," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature starring the most famous actor of the modern stage, E. H. Sothern, and the versatile star, Edith Storey, is the attraction at the Paramount theatre today.

In his production, which is Mr. Sothern's own choice of the role which he desired to make immortal, are cast a number of the players who gave the original characterizations to the roles.

Rolin Buxton is one of these, and he proves himself as clever a screen performer as legitimate player. Mr. Buxton lends a bit of humor to the production which is most welcome, and his many friends who have witnessed his characterizations upon the stage in the support of Mr. Sothern will enjoy this opportunity of watching him upon the screen.

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Save your hair! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

PULLMANS REDUCE GRAPEFRUIT PRICE

It is stated that the Pullman Company has been induced, by Florida interests, to reduce the price of Florida grapefruit served on all the company's dining cars to 10 cents for a half portion and 15 cents for a whole portion.

The high prices heretofore charged had, it was thought, interfered with the consumption and consequent advertisement of grapefruit, and growers and commercial bodies in the state asked that the price be reduced. As a consequence the lower prices will be printed on all of the company's menus.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Norwood and daughter returned last night from Jacksonville where for the past ten days they have attended a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Baines. The occasion was the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Quaintance of Lakeland, parents of Mrs. Norwood and Mrs. Baines.

SHRINE AT GASPARILLA.

Tampa, Jan. 15.—Saturday, Ferruary 10, the last day of the South Florida Fair and Gasparilla carnival, has been decided upon for the Shriner doings this year, and plans are under foot for a big parade in the afternoon and a ceremonial that night at the Tampa Bay casino at which possibly 100 will be introduced to the secrets of the Shrine. Fred Fletcher, president of the Tampa Shriners' club, declared today that the petitions already received indicate a big class this year.

Last year's Shriner's activities drew about 1,100 all told, with a delegation 400 strong from Jacksonville. Morroco Temple will be on hand during Gasparilla in full force, with W. R. Steckert of Gainesville, who succeeded Harry Roberts as potentate, leading the invaders. Alee Temple at Savannah has sent word that it will be represented and the Shriners at Havana promised during the visit of Tampans to that city that some of their number would return the call.

ALDERMAN'S MOTHER BROKEN IN HEALTH IS TAKEN TO ASYLUM

A pathetic sequence of the Homestead bank robebry was the departure last night of the mother of Hugh Alderman, one of the alleged bandits, for the insane asylum at Chattahoochee. The unfortunate woman, who is not violent but is considered dangerous was accompanied by a nurse, leaving Miami on the midnight train.

Soon after the bank robbery and the implication of Hugh Alderman in the crime, as well as that of murder, Mrs. Alderman's health began to fail, and the overwrought nervous condition caused a mental complication which grew rapidly worse. A few days ago she was examined by local physicians and a jury of inquisition declared her to be insane.

It is not understood that she is incurable, but for her own safety and for that of others it was considered necessary that she be sent away for treatment.

Sixty letters were received in yesterday's mail asking for booklets pertaining to Miami.

One of these written by George W. Lee, Maryland said:

"For goodness sake send the booklet. I always thought that heaven is in another world and attainable only through faith, repentance and death. I am delighted to know that it is in Florida and attainable by train."

Mr. Lee enclosed a clipping from the Baltimore Sun to show where he had seen the advertisement.

CROWDS BEGGED FOR TABLES WHEN GRILL ROOM OPENED

Greatest Social Event of Season Enjoyed Last Night at the Royal Palm.

Miami's greatest social event in many seasons occurred last night at the opening of the grill room of the Royal Palm hotel, and the occasion will long be a memorable one, for not in many years has this event which happens annually, been attended by such a large and fashionable crowd.

The hotel management had prepared for large numbers, and it is well that they did, for even their liberal estimate of the attendance was beaten by hundreds.

There were thirty four tables seating anywhere from two to twenty people and all were crowded. Had there been as many more they would hardly have been able to care for the immense throng who begged for room, only to be disappointed, for while the grill is spacious, it was necessary to leave space for dancing which was one of the special features, and it would have been impossible to crowd in any more tables.

Special decorations had been placed in the grill, including tropical plants and palms, while roses and flowers of every kind and color were lavishly displayed on every hand. Add to this the various colored gowns of the ladies and the streamers of colored paper which were thrown over wires extended near the ceiling; the caps of every conceivable kind worn by everybody, making the assembly look like a New Year's or a Hallowe'en celebration, then some idea of the scene may be pictured by those with great imaginations.

There was music almost constantly, furnished by a colored orchestra of merit, and a member of the orchestra sang, while the guests were at their tables.

The floor of the grill is composed of brick tile and this does not make it one of the best dancing places in the world, but the people, young and old alike, appeared to get more enjoyment out of the dance for that very reason, because it seemed to make the entire affair more informal.

As early as nine o'clock the guests began to assemble and many held unplanned receptions in the lobby of the hotel where the people were assembled listening to the orchestra.

Chief among these receptions was particularly noted the cheerful and hearty greetings received by Col. Henry Watterson, who only lingered for a short time, while ex-Governor Douglas and many other prominent men and women were surrounded by their friends constantly.

Shortly before ten o'clock the dancing floor in the lobby was cleared and Monsieur and Madame Roberto of New York and Paris, professional dancers, took the floor and gave an exhibition that was the personification of grace and poetry of motion. They danced but twice and were applauded for continuous encores, demonstrating Monsieur Roberto's own composition, the waltz Caprice, which was named by Mrs. Ila Watkins, and the London taps.

Then the dinner parties began to wend their way to the grill and the merriment began, which lasted until an early hour this morning.

Two of the largest dinner parties of the evening were given by Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Tatum and Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Lee. Each table seated twenty guests and the appearance after the guests were seated was really beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Tatum gave their dinner in honor of Miss Frances Lewis of Bridgeport, Illinois, and New York.

The decorations were pink roses and asparagus ferns, and the favors place cards of dancing figures, while the guest of honor was presented with a magnificent cluster of radiance roses. Those at the table were: Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Tatum, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hanan, Miss Frances Lewis, of Bridgeport, Ill., and New York; Mr. and Mrs. Manning S. Burbank, Mrs. Mattison, of New York; Miss Bessie Burdine, Mrs. Josephine Blackwood, of Detroit; Miss Jane Tatum, Robert Reiners, Jr., Joseph Miller, of Naragansett; Edward Haines, Joe Reilly, Beals Siler, Steven Webster, of New York; Mr. Finnegan, of Washington.

The table occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Lee's guests was also most artistically embellished with pink roses, intertwined with pale, green tulle. Favors for the ladies were fans of many handsome designs and buttonieres for the gentlemen. Those seated were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Lee, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Reilly, Mr. and Mrs E. C. Romfh, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Sewell, Mr. and Mrs. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Gramling, Miss Walter E. Flanders, Mr. Zoll, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gilman, Mrs. Ila A. Watkins, Mrs. Van Cleve.

Another large party were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wintersimth of Louisville, Ky., who entertained in honor of Miss Mary Moss, of Bowling Green, Ky., who is their guest at their cottage on Brickell avenue for the winter.

At this table there was a good sprinkling of young folks who kept things lively, and the decorations were in keeping with those of others already described. The guests included: Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wintersmith, of Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Bailey, of Woodstock, Vt.; Mrs. Frank Thompson, of Chicago, Ill.; Miss Mary Moss, of Bowling Green, Ky.; Mr. E. H. Holterman, of Woodstock, Vt.; Mr. Fritz Hillburg, of Omaha, Neb.; Capt. Rodger Jannus, of Petrograd, Russia; Mr. Kay Tatum and Mr. Howard Marvin, of Miami.

At the table over which Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Drake presided roses were used predominately as an aid to give added beauty to the hospitable board, around which were seated: Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Drake, Mr. and Mrs. Talbot Hannan, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Kosus, Miss Hannan, Louis A. Koons, Jr. and Paul Chaffin.

AUTO MEN ENTHUSIASTIC

Over Prospects for Show Which Opens Next Monday on Elser' Pier.

When the automobile show opens on Elser's pier on Monday, January 22, the large dance hall on the second floor will be opened on the same night.

From then on dances will be held every afternoon and evening for which a colored orchestra will furnish the music. The dance hall is one of the largest in the south having 7,000 feet of floor space and the floor itself will be one of the finest that could be bought.

Enthusiasm has been aroused among the automobile dealers who will exhibit during the week the show will be held and they are working hard for its success.

No detail is being overlooked whereby the comfort and convenience of the thousands who will attend the show might be enhanced. There is plenty of parking space close to the pier for the parking of cars and there are four city blocks within easy access of the pier which can be used. There will be light galore at night time for thousands of incadesents will be used, while innumerable arcs will help to make the place as bright as day.

This will be the first opportunity that Miamians have had to view the wizardy of 1917 motordom and as there is no admission to the show it should be well patronized.

MIDGETS HAVE DAY'S OUTING

After a day of rest, Miami amusement devotees returned to the Con T. Kennedy shows, and a good crowd was on the midway during the afternoon and evening. The shows have proven very popular in this city, and the attendance has been excellent.

The engagement will close next Saturday night, and for the benefit of those who visited the attractions last week, the programs have been changed in most of the shows. During this week the free act will take place about 8:30 o'clock each night, so that everyone will have an opportunity to see it.

The Garden of Allah attraction has furnished an innovation which has been greatly enjoyed by local residents and visitors in this city. Two of the camels carry saddles, and can be ridden around the grounds. It is not often that an opportunity presents itself to ride a camel in this country, and many have availed themselves of this chance. The "ship of the desert" is a tireless beast, and his steady, swinging stride makes the ride both safe and enjoyable.

Prince Dennison, Princess Marguerite Leona and the Noble Mab, the four midgets with the Kennedy shows, enjoyed yesterday sight seeing. They were taken in an auto by a Miami admirer and rode from early in the morning until late in the evening, taking in the beach, and all points of interest in this city. These interesting little people are very well liked here, and hav made a most favorable impression. They are bright, attractive little folks, and will be long remembered in this city.

ANOTHER TOURIST ARRIVES

A daughter was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Crane of Christmas Lake, Minnesota, who are spending the season in this city at 227 Fourth street.

NOTICE TO CARPENTERS.

Beginning May 1, 1917, Carpenters and Joiners of L. U. No. 993 will demand an increase in wages of 12 1-2 cents per hour, or $5.00 per 8 hours; 44 hours per week. Done by order of L. U. No. 993.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

It Works! Try It

Good news spreads rapidly and druggists here are kept busy dispensing freezone, the ether discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers.

Ask at any pharmacy for a quarter ounce of freezone, which will cost very little, but is said to be sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You apply just a few drops on the tender, aching corn and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn is so shriveled that it lifts out without pain. It is a sticky substance which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the adjoining tissue.

AUTO MEN ENTHUSIASTIC

When the automobile show opens on Elser's pier on Monday, January 22, the large dance hall on the second floor will be opened on the same night.

From then on dances will be held every afternoon and evening for which a colored orchestra will furnish the music. The dance hall is one of the largest in the south having 7,000 feet of floor space and the floor itself will be one of the finest that could be bought.

Enthusiasm has been aroused among the automobile dealers who will exhibit during the week the show will be held and they are working hard for its success.

No detail is being overlooked whereby the comfort and convenience of the thousands who will attend the show might be enhanced. There is plenty of parking space close to the pier for the parking of cars and there are four city blocks within easy access of the pier which can be used. There will be light galore at night time for thousands of incadesents will be used, while innumerable arcs will help to make the place as bright as day.

This will be the first opportunity that Miamians have had to view the wizardy of 1917 motordom and as there is no admission to the show it should be well patronized.

CALOMEL DYNAMITES A SLUGGISH LIVER

Crashes into sour bile, making you sick and you lose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury. Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes into contact with sour bile it crashes into it, causing cramping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone, which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides, it may salivate you, while if you take Dodson's Liver Tone you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; they like it.

MIDGETS HAVE DAY'S OUTING

After a day of rest, Miami amusement devotees returned to the Con T. Kennedy shows, and a good crowd was on the midway during the afternoon and evening. The shows have proven very popular in this city, and the attendance has been excellent.

The engagement will close next Saturday night, and for the benefit of those who visited the attractions last week, the programs have been changed in most of the shows. During this week the free act will take place about 8:30 o'clock each night, so that everyone will have an opportunity to see it.

The Garden of Allah attraction has furnished an innovation which has been greatly enjoyed by local residents and visitors in this city. Two of the camels carry saddles, and can be ridden around the grounds. It is not often that an opportunity presents itself to ride a camel in this country, and many have availed themselves of this chance. The "ship of the desert" is a tireless beast, and his steady, swinging stride makes the ride both safe and enjoyable.

Prince Dennison, Princess Marguerite Leona and the Noble Mab, the four midgets with the Kennedy shows, enjoyed yesterday sight seeing. They were taken in an auto by a Miami admirer and rode from early in the morning until late in the evening, taking in the beach, and all points of interest in this city. These interesting little people are very well liked here, and hav made a most favorable impression. They are bright, attractive little folks, and will be long remembered in this city.

It Works! Try It

Tells how to loosen a sore, tender corn so it lifts out without pain.

Good news spreads rapidly and druggists here are kept busy dispensing freezone, the ether discovery of a Cincinnati man, which is said to loosen any corn so it lifts out with the fingers.

Ask at any pharmacy for a quarter ounce of freezone, which will cost very little, but is said to be sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You apply just a few drops on the tender, aching corn and instantly the soreness is relieved, and soon the corn is so shriveled that it lifts out without pain. It is a sticky substance which dries when applied and never inflames or even irritates the adjoining tissue.
